Trustees Will Hold November Election

After a report by attorney William F. Brown, explaining the stipulations in a "consent decree" issued by Judge William H. Becker, Chief District Judge of the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Missouri, the State Fair Community College Board of Trustees voted unanimously Monday evening to hold an election at large for the two board seats presently held by Dr. Donald Proctor, 233 South Harrison, and Leonard Heisterberg, Cole Camp.

Both Proctor and Heisterberg are eligible to file for their present positions along with any other candidates. The board proposed holding the election Nov. 7.

The action has the effect of complying with a suit filed June 9 against the junior college. The suit alleged the April election, which returned Proctor to the board and elected Heisterberg, was not in keeping with a recent one-man, one-vote ruling. In other words, the suit claims that because Sedalia School District No. 200 has a significantly larger population than the remainder of the college district it should have a proportionately larger voice in selecting SFCC board members.

Brown told the board it had two courses of action: first, "agree substantially" with the spirit of the suit filed against SFCC and go along with the "consent decree;" or second, fight the suit in court. Brown termed the latter step "essentially an excercise in futility."

The April election of Proctor and Heisterberg, Brown said, "doesn't conform to the present requirement of the one-man, one-vote rule." Brown advised the board a court action might delay the final outcome. However, he expressed certainty the court would rule against the college based on a precedent established in a court case involving the Junior College District of Metropolitan Kansas City.

At one point in his report, Brown was interrupted by Richard Banks, Cole Camp, who questioned the use of population figures listed in a consent decree presented to the board for examination by the U. S. District Court in Kansas City. Brown explained the figures were based on the 1970 census. Banks suggested challenging the figures, but Brown replied such a challenge would be useless.

The board said Oct. 7 will be the filing deadline for either board seat.

In other business the board voted to add an agri-business film project, a federally reimbursed program totaling $15,844, to the school's budget. SFCC President Fred Davis said the film would be used in the state's agri-business program. Ten other schools will participate in funding the project in return for copies of the film. The administration, Davis, said, hopes to make a brief film about SFCC at the same time. Filming will be done by Gary Campbell, who has received national recognition for a recruiting film he did while a student at Kansas State College of Pittsburg, Kan.

The board resolved, at Davis' recommendation, to exercise its option on land for permanent facilities. Davis said the action was an effort to provide reassurance to the land owner. The land is located northwest of the campus.

The faculty handbook was reviewed and minor revisions were made before it was given tentative approval. The Board also voted to asphalt the first two bays of the first entrance to the campus parking lot. Bids for the project are being accepted for consideration.

The board voted to publish the school's audit report when it is made available. The report is expected to be completed this week. A $100,000 tax anticipation note, to cover college expenses, was approved.

The board authorized the hiring of additional security personnel for the duration of the Missouri State Fair.

Personnel approved at Monday's meeting included: David Gillespie, Ronald Jones, David Mathews, Mary May, Ann Murrell, Judith L. Stumpf, Joyce Wade Downing, Laura Taylor, James Warren Reed, Ethlyn Schondelmaier, Pauline Dock, Lola Angie Walsh, Richard M. Battles, Wilbur J. Gunier, James Friedebach, the Rev. Greg Hibbard, Lorraine Nieder, Ellen Rodgers, Barbara Schultz, Walter Smith, Josephine Ann Billington and Gary Noland.

At Fair Since 1929

One thing about the Missouri State Fair that is not obvious to the hurried visitor is the number of concession and people that do business here year after year. Many of them have been running businesses next to each other at the Fair for years. At right is Earl McKinney from Dangerfield, Tex., who told The Democrat-Capital that he has been operating a "cookout meals" stand at the Fair since 1929. McKinney has brought six assistants from Texas and plans to hire about 10 locally. He averages about 10 state fairs annually, he pointed out.

Convention Plans Continue in Miami

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Preliminaries for next week's Republican National Convention rolled along on schedule today as top Nixon administration officials proclaimed administration achievements and criticized alternatives proposed by the Democratic opposition.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and three of President Nixon's top economic advisers appeared before the Platform Committee to praise the administration's policies at home and abroad and to condemn proposals offered by the Democrats.

Laird told the platform writers, "I hope that your platform will call for the maintenance of our country's military strength and will reject policies of planned weakness, of whiteflag waving, of begging and of abandonment of our nation's role in helping maintain peace."

While shying away from direct mention of Democratic presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern in his platform testimony, Laird nonetheless made clear his distaste for the South Dakotan's defense proposals.

He accused McGovern of waffling on his proposals for a $30-billion cut in defense spending.

McGovern originally proposed "unilateral disarmament," Laird stated, but "he is now waffling, he is now on the teeter-totter."

The Defense secretary said Vietnam policy will be "a plus for this administration" in the campaign ahead, because Nixon is moving toward peace.

Laird also defended U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, saying "those resources will continue to be used" until Hanoi ends military action against South Vietnam.

He said U.S. military resources "will be in Asia for many years to come ...

"I don't believe that any responsible president could advocate the withdrawal of all American sea and air power from Asia," he said.

Any change, particularly along the lines proposed by McGovern, could endanger American security and world peace, Laird indicated to the platform writers.

The Platform Committee also heard Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and the three members of the President's Council of Economic Advisers extoll Nixon's fiscal policies, while charging that Democratic options could be ruinous. Shultz said a spending ceiling binding both Congress and the executive branch is necessary to keep deficit spending from overheating the economy.

The advisers — Herbert Stein, Ezra Solomon and Marina N. Whitman — said such a lid would "prevent an explosion of spending which will make inevitable both more inflation and more taxes."

Although the administration officials were getting most of the attention during today's activity, the handful of party dissenters kept up their efforts.

As the convention neared, the local City Council took a step considered important in heading off trouble by voting 4 to 3 to permit protesters to camp out in palm-fringed Flamingo Park six blocks from the site of the GOP gathering.

Formal selection of President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as the Republican ticket still was a week away, but Democratic nominees George McGovern and Sargent Shriver already were out campaigning.

McGovern began his first visit to the politically crucial midwestern states of Ohio and Illinois. Shriver, who charged Monday in West Virginia that the Nixon administration had ignored the nation's workers, vowed in California to make that state "the scene of Richard Nixon's greatest defeat."

This week's GOP sessions on platform and rules, like next week's convention, gave little indication of dissent among Republicans from Nixon's policies.

For Junior High

Temporary School Permit

City Building Inspector Woodrow Garrison Tuesday said he will grant a temporary occupancy permit to allow the opening of the new junior high school on schedule Aug. 30.

Garrison's decision came after receiving a letter from Sammons and Buller, architects for the school, in which it was certified that "to the best of (their) knowledge, the building is built according to plans and specifications and does conform to the uniform building code of the city of Sedalia in its construction with the exception of those portions of the building not completed."

The "portions not completed" includes the swimming pool, which is not expected to be finished until around Nov. 1.

Architect Don Buller read the letter which he sent Garrison to the schoolboard at the close of their special meeting Monday night.

Garrison and Buller also conferred after the meeting to discuss Garrison's accusation that certain construction practices which he felt to be questionable were being covered up.

"We talked specifically about some loose insulation installation which Woody (Garrison) noticed one time. We assured him that it was corrected." Certain welding procedures, Buller added, were also criticized by Garrison but Buller said this too had been fixed.

"We've been going out there nearly every day," Buller said. "Woody only came out periodically."

Buller added that he had invited Garrison to accompany him on his next inspection of the structure Thursday.

Garrison, although declining to comment on Monday night's proceedings, said he never would have agreed to grant the temporary permit if he hadn't felt the controversy couldn't be satisfactorily worked out.

School Board President George Thompson said the final payment to the Don "L" Bron Construction Co., the general contractor, would not be made until a permanent city permit has been issued.

In other business, the board decided to use the High Point school building as office space for the offices of superintendent Dr. T. J. Norris, assistant superintendent Dr. Richard Kimble and elementary education director P. A. Sillers.

Dr. Norris announced he will go into the hospital Tuesday afternoon for tests. He added he would be back at his desk Wednesday afternoon. The reason for the tests was not disclosed.

The exact location of a recently-purchased lot in Southwest Village was announced. The southeast corner of Stephenson and Wing will be the site of a house to be built by the Smith-Cotton building and trades class. It was learned the board hopes to sell the house at a profit eventually.

It was also learned that some marble slabs, which had been serving as partitions, are no longer needed and will be put up for bids.

It was announced that the board will meet at the junior high school building Friday afternoon to inspect numerous construction items on a check list. Included among these were carpeting and kitchen utilities. Each item on the list must be completed before final payment will be made to the contractor.

Requests Rejection Of White Flag Plan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today called on the Republican party to "reject policies of planned weakness, of white-flag waving, of begging" and to give full endorsement to President Nixon's foreign strategy.

The Pentagon chief told the GOP National Convention's Platform Committee the President has maintained the nation's strength while still moving toward meaningful relaxations of world tensions.

Laird did not mention Democratic presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern directly, but he made clear he was attacking the political opposition.

"Our progress could quickly evaporate if we allowed our military strength to wane and if we had leadership that was not firm, calm, realistic and experienced," Laird declared.

"It is especially essential," he continued, "That the nation be led by a president and commander in chief who does not waver under pressure or articulate confusing, teeter-totter views.

"President Nixon has demonstrated the ability to devise sound policies and to successfully pursue them under the most strenuous kind of pressure."

Besides Laird, appearing at today's hearing were Nixon's top economic advisers, who told the committee that federal spending must be curbed and Phase 2 economic controls maintained to prevent a resurgence of inflation and higher taxes.

"Price and wage controls need to be continued and improved for the time being," the President's Council of Economic Advisers said. "But we need to look forward to getting rid of them.

"An important reason for great care in adhering to noninflationary fiscal and monetary policy is to permit the controls to end without major disruption of the economy."

The economic advisers who appeared in addition to Laird before the 108-member Platform Committee were Herbert Stein, Ezra Solomon and Marina N. Whitman.

The council's statement was presented in advance of testimony before the 108-member GOP Platform Committee by the three council members, Chairman Herbert Stein, Ezra Solomon and Marina N. Whitman. The committee's draft platform goes to the Republican National Convention which opens here Monday.

Kissinger Will Hold Review in Vietnam

Henry Kissinger . . .
. . . off to Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is sending his top national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to South Vietnam Wednesday for "a general review of all aspects of the Vietnam problem, including negotiations in Paris."

The White House cautioned against any speculation that there was a breakthrough in negotiations at Paris. It said the plan to send Kissinger for discussions with top U.S. and South Vietnamese officials has been under consideration "for several weeks" and the President feels it is desirable and appropriate at this time.

Kissinger is scheduled to arrive in Saigon Wednesday night Vietnam time and to stay until Friday. He will meet with President Nguyen Van Thieu, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and the top U.S. military commander Gen. Frederick C. Weyland and other officials.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Kissinger will return to report to Nixon before the Republican National Convention gets underway next week. He said Kissinger will probably be back "some time over the weekend."

But he raised speculations over Kissinger's travel plans by declining to say where Kissinger will go when he leaves Saigon Friday evening (local time).

Ziegler ruled out speculation that Kissinger would go back to Paris or to Hanoi, the capital of North Vietnam. He said Kissinger's travel schedule will be announced later.

Murder and Suicide In Rural Farm House

(Democrat-Capital Service)

VERSAILLES — A farm home about seven miles southeast of here was the scene of a murder-suicide incident early Sunday.

With his 10-month-old child lying just a few feet away, Marvin W. Blair, 38, shot his 26-year-old wife Nancy to death and then turned the .22 magnum rifle on himself, according to Morgan County Deputy Sheriff Bill Arnold.

Authorities assume the crime occurred during the night. The cries of the Blair infant brought Mrs. Blair's 10-year-old daughter to the room about 11:30 a.m. when she discovered the bodies of her mother and step-father.

She in turn took her three younger brothers and sisters to another home a mile away to seek help.

Arnold was called to the scene about 1 p.m. He told The Democrat-Capital he found the bodies in bed. The woman had been shot in the chest. Blair shot himself in the roof of the mouth.

Also investigating the crime were Dr. Ray Lyle, Morgan County coroner, and State Trooper Gary Hurt.

Arnold revealed a note was left telling of Blair's plans, but declined to reveal its contents. He did say, however, that Blair had been in poor health recently.

The coroner agreed with Arnold and Hurt that the deaths were murder and suicide.

The bodies are at the Kidwell Funeral Home, Versailles.

Marvin Blair was born March 6, 1934, at Stockton, Kan., son of Clyde and Marie Blair.

He married Nancy Rogers Feb. 14, 1969.

Survivors include two sons, Dennis Blair, Hays, Kan.; Daniel Blair, of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Jeanie Kooley, Burdett, Kan.; Miss Valda Blair, Hays, Kan.; his mother, Mrs. Marie Blair, Stockton, Kan.; and one brother, Clyde Blair, El Paso, Tex.

Mrs. Blair was born Sept. 14, 1946, at St. Francis, Kan., daughter of Kenneth and Harriett Voeller.

Survivors include three sons, Gary Rogers, Kenneth Rogers, Daniel Blair; one daughter, Sara Rogers, all of the home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Voeller, St. Francis, Kan.; two brothers, Donnie Voeller, Trenton, Neb.; and Gene Voeller, St. Francis, Kan.

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Blair will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at First Christian Church here with the Rev. Jimmy Kruse officiating.

Burial will be in Greenmore Memorial Gardens at Barnett.

Another Clark Blast By Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell delivered another blast at Ramsey Clark today, calling him "a naive American" who was "unwittingly duped into playing Hanoi's wretched game."

Clark, who was attorney general in the administration of President Johnson, returned from a two-week visit to North Vietnam with a plea to end the U.S. bombing.

"We are bombing the hell out of that little country and it has got to stop," Clark said at a news conference in San Francisco Monday. "There is no possible moral justification for it."

He also said he thought the North Vietnamese had become "disgusted" at continued emphasis by Americans on when U.S. prisoners would be released.

Mitchell, in a statement released by the Committee for the Re-election of the President, said "Mr. Clark's behavior while within the frontiers of a country waging war against an ally and the armed forces of the United States was inexcusable."

He called on Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic candidate for president, "to face up to this issue." McGovern, who has described Clark as being of Cabinet caliber, said Sunday that Clark is not the issue—the bombing is.

Mitchell was attorney general under President Nixon and recently resigned as the President's campaign manager.

Clark said he saw hospitals, schools and churches that had been bombed, as well as several dike installations that had been damaged, but did not witness any actual bombings.

"I believe in the basic goodness of the American people," he said. "If they know the truth, they'll do justice."

Mitchell, who criticized Clark for the second time in recent days, said, "Occasionally, a naive American has been unwittingly duped into playing Hanoi's wretched game, into serving as an American megaphone for Communist propaganda. Such a naive American is Mr. Ramsey Clark."

Clark also said Monday he was confident American prisoners will be released when there is a settlement of the war.

DEATH NOTICES

Mrs. Ileen Jewett

WINDSOR — Mrs. Ileen Jewett, 57, died Monday evening at her home here.

She was born in Deepwater on Dec. 12, 1914, the daughter of the late Ollie C. and Maude L. Oaks Bradley.

She was married July 10, 1938 to Fred Jewett in Kansas City. He survives of the home.

The body will be brought to the McLaughlin Funeral Home, Sedalia.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Herbert P. Seefelt

DANIELSON, Conn. — Herbert P. Seefelt, 54, a former Sedalian, died at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday at the Danielson City Hospital.

He was an employe for several years at the Pittsburgh-Corning Co. plant in Sedalia.

When living in Sedalia he was a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mary, and a son, Gary, both of the home.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The body is at the Tillinghast Funeral Home.

Jesse Alvin Hall

Funeral services for Jesse Alvin Hall, 64, 1005 South Vermont, who died Sunday at a Mt. Vernon Hospital, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Moore Funeral Home, LaMonte.

Burial will be in Payne Cemetery, south of Knob Noster.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home.

Man Is Released On Judge's Order

A Sedalia man was released from the Pettis County jail Tuesday after Circuit Judge Frank Meyer ordered a stay of execution of the remainder of his sentence. The action came at the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Adam Fischer.

Michael Dwain Feeback, 2500 South Quincy, was released after serving three months of a six-month sentence he received Dec. 20, 1971, in Pettis County Circuit Court. Feeback pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing more than $50.

Feeback was allowed to complete school work at William Jewell College in Liberty before he began serving his sentence May 15.

Feeback reportedly took two hair dryers and seven meat grinders from a Rival Manufacturing Co. truck, Oct. 8, 1971.

Firemen Respond To Three Alarms

Firemen were summoned to the Missouri State Fairgrounds at 1:47 p.m. Monday to extinguish a grass fire which started when a truck knocked down a light wire, which then ignited nearby grass. The fire was out when firemen arrived.

A second call at 3:46 p.m. Monday sent firemen to the 400 block on East Third where a car owned by Harvey Priesmeyer, 904 South Moniteau, caught fire when the carburetor backfired. Firemen used two pump buckets to extinguish the blaze. Damage was listed as slight.

Firemen also were summoned to the Cue Room, 604 South Ohio, at 5:52 a.m. Tuesday to extinguish a burning awning. According to reports, the fire developed when someone tossed a lighted cigarette onto the top of the awning. Damage was estimated at $50.

McGovern Buoyed By Union Yes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Blessed with fresh union support, Sen. George McGovern begins a swing through the Midwest today amid indications he may soon temper his controversial tax-reform program.

The four-day tour calls for stops in Ohio, Wisconsin and downstate Illinois, and unofficially includes a not-so-coincidental crossing of paths with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The Democratic presidential nominee got a spirit-bolstering sendoff for the second major jaunt of his troubled campaign when 25 AFL-CIO unions announced Monday they had formed a "National Labor Committee" to back his candidacy.

At the same time, McGovern signed up two veteran economists, Charles Schultze and Walter Heller, as he began considering revisions of his tax, welfare and employment proposals.

Heller was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, and Schultze was LBJ's budget director. Both are generally more conservative than other McGovern economists.

The pair met with the candidate for nearly an hour. Neither would comment specifically on what advice was offered. Heller said McGovern is entertaining the idea of replacing his much-assailed proposal to supplement the income of every American with a $1,000 yearly cash grant.

McGovern later greeted a number of the union officials responsible for organizing the new labor coalition, including Joseph Kennan of The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Joseph Beirne of The Communications Workers, Floyd Smith of The International Association of Machinists and Paul Jennings of The International Union of Electrical Workers.

Meanwhile, McGovern's running-mate, Sargent Shriver, made a strong pitch for labor votes in West Virginia Monday.

"The working man's wages are frozen, but he is still paying higher prices," Shriver said at Wheeling. "At the other end of the scale, large corporations are getting special treatment."

Shriver is on a week's tour that includes stops in California, Denver and Houston.

McGovern's itinerary calls for a handshaking tour in Youngstown, Ohio, today, along with an address to Local 1112 of the United Auto Workers at nearby Lordstown.

He is to fly on tonight to Springfield, site of the Illinois State Fair, and spend most of the day there Wednesday.

McGovern has several hours set aside as "private time" in Springfield. And, while there was no mention of a meeting with Daley, one top McGovern aide said of the mayor: "He's always at the State Fair. Oh, yeah. We checked that out. It's traditional."

Fischer-Spassky Match Is Resumed

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer and Russian champion Boris Spassky began their 14th game in the world chess championship today after a two-day delay because of a medical postponement by Spassky.

Fischer, leading 8-5 in the series, had complained Spassky should not have been granted the postponement because the medical certificate submitted did not specify the Russian's ailment.

Chief referee Lothar Schmid dismissed the American challenger's objections, saying "it is never ... necessary that illness be specified. It only needs to be certified."

County Organization Is Explained To Group Here

In an attempt to make people aware of the "forgotten" county, five county court judges and the newly-appointed executive director of the new Missouri Association of Counties came to Sedalia Tuesday morning to promote their organization.

The group was formed in February this year to strengthen the old counties' organization, the Association of County Court Judges of Missouri. Only 35 of Missouri's 114 counties are paying members of the new organization. Pettis County is one of them.

"The primary role of the organization is to improve the overall operation of county governments as a whole," said Paul Dow, executive director, at a press conference at the airport here.

Dow's job as executive director will be to convey the wishes of county courts throughout the state to the state legislature. He also will assist in setting up training programs for local government officials and provide information and materials to facilitate more efficient operation of county government.

The member counties are paying $15 per $1 million of assessed valuation. Pettis County's share is $1,155 a year, based on a total assessed valuation of about $77 million.

In short, the counties will be trying to get more tax money and more taxing authority from the state legislature through their new organization. The old organization of county court judges had no full-time director and collected only token dues from its members.

"The counties have been a forgotten level of government in this state too long," said Ralph N. Smith, presiding judge of the Franklin County Court and a state-wide at-large director of the organization.

"Unless we receive added income, every county government in the state will go bankrupt in ten years," he added.

Smith said the counties not only want a bigger share of the tax dollar, they also want the legislature to enable them to levy alternate taxes in place of the property tax, which he said is "the most unfair of all taxes today."

He said counties should be given the authority by the state to levy a sales tax and a utility tax as alternate forms of tax-producing income. He cited federal revenue sharing as another partial solution to the financial plight of county governments.

"We've got some laws on the books affecting county governments that date back to 1821," Smith said. "Many of the laws today are archaic and overly restrictive. It will be the goal of this organization to streamline the county governments by abolishing these laws."

Tony Heisberger, presiding judge of the Cole County Court and one of the founders of the organization, said the counties' roles in the governmental process has changed drastically in recent years.

Counties are undertaking such vital jobs as planning and zoning, sewage and water studies and ecological solutions, tasks which were mainly city responsibilities previously.

The cities for years have had a strong lobbying and informational organization, the Missouri Municipal League (MML). But Smith says the Missouri Association of Counties will not directly compete with the MML over the tax dollar.

"There's enough money for both organizations," Smith said.

Shortages Of Gas Are Predicted

(Democrat-Capital Service)

DES MOINES, Iowa — Missouri utility customers will be facing a scarcity of gas in the near future, Missouri Public Service Commission chairman Marvin E. Jones said Tuesday.

Speaking to the Midwest Governors' Conference on Energy and the Environment, Jones said, "The key to the main problem, gas supply, is in the hands of the Federal Power Commission."

Jones said that some gas companies have such short supplies that they can serve no new customers. Those with better supplies, he said, are cautiously accepting new residential customers. He explained that the gas supplies throughout the state vary because of different capabilities of pipeline companies.

Jones said that as long as the intrastate price in producing states is more attractive than the price set by the Federal Power Commission for interstate sales, difficulties can be expected in expansion northward and eastward.

Jones said freeing wellhead gas from price regulations and opening new avenues of exploration might relieve the predicted shortage.

He said that two major hurdles confronting utilities are rising construction costs and difficulty in bringing new plants on line as scheduled.

Last Merchants Tax Payment Made

Forty-five days after they were originally due, the city collected its final merchants tax payment of the year Monday without resorting to legal action, license inspector Bob Brown said Tuesday.

Brown announced Aug. 4 the city would begin legal proceedings against the two remaining non-paying merchants if they failed to pay the tax by Monday.

It's been a long hard fight," Brown said in speaking of his efforts to collect the payments which were originally due June 30.

During the 30-day grace period allowed for payment, in which a ten per cent penalty payment was imposed, 82 city businessmen complied with the regulation.

The 18 merchants who still had not paid the tax by Aug. 1 were forced to pay an additional one per cent penalty. This figure was later narrowed down to the two firms who were sent notices of legal action.

City Collector Opal Hugelman and Brown said they could not release any names since no court action was taken.

Youth Is Bitten; Search for Dog

Police are looking for a large, brown dog, believed to be a great dane or boxer, that bit a 15-year-old Sedalia boy Monday afternoon at the Heritage Village Mobile Home Park, West 16th.

The victim is Robert Banning, 2422 West Second. If the dog is not found, Banning must undergo rabies treatments.

According to Mrs. Ralph Banning, mother of the boy, it was not determined whether the dog had a collar.

Persons are to contact the police at 826-8100 or the Banning residence at 826-4482, if they have information concerning the incident.

Reports Cash Loss

An undetermined amount of cash was taken over the weekend from an office at the Wade Lumber Yard, LaMonte, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said.

Another weekend burglary netted thieves a radio worth $14 and a two-gallon gas can from a DX service station in Houstonia, sheriff's officers reported.

Break-Ins Reported To Police

Vandals ransacked an office at the Courtesy Cab Co., 207 East Main, early Monday morning, but police reported nothing taken. Entry was gained by breaking a small window on the east side of the building, according to police.

Glenda Veack, Route 3, told police that thieves Saturday took a purse from her car which was parked at a car wash at Fifth and Limit. Stolen items included $6 in currency and papers.

F. E. Wallace, 811, East Fifth, told police that for the past several weeks youths have been damaging flowers at his residence.

Emmett Cramer, 906 East Sixth, told police someone broke into a garage behind his residence early Tuesday morning. A hasp on the garage was broken and a lock apparently was stolen, police said. Nothing in the garage was reported missing.

Thieves took an RCA eight-track stereo tape player over the weekend from the B and L Appliance Service, 710 West 16th. Police said the thieves threw a concrete block through a window on the northwest corner of the building and then unlocked the window. Nothing else was reported missing.

A total of $104.06 in currency and a transistor radio valued at $20 were taken early Sunday morning from Meller's Photo Drive-In Store, 1715 West Broadway. The radio reportedly was found around 8 a.m. Sunday morning in the car of Douglas Ross Giffin, the 25-year-old Independence man who was electrocuted between 1:30 and 7:30 a.m. Sunday while apparently attempting to enter the A & W Root Beer Drive-In, 800 Crescent Drive, police said. An employe at the store claimed the radio at the police station Monday. The currency was not recovered, according to police reports.

Tom Ulmer, 911 East Sixth, reported to police that a black doe rabbit, valued at $2.50, was taken from a pen in the backyard of his residence between 10 p.m. Sunday and early Monday morning. Ulmer told police that the wires on the pen had been cut.

Fund Drive Set For Dam Project

West-central Missouri supporters of the $294-million Harry S. Truman Dam and Reservoir near Warsaw will launch a fund-raising drive Wednesday to continue defense of the project, which is under attack by the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF).

The goal set by the group, known as the Truman Reservoir Defense Fund, is $25,000, according to Rowland West, a Clinton banker who heads the area organization.

The organization hopes to raise that amount by an area-wide sale of Truman Reservoir Booster stickers, it was reported.

Organizations participating in the sale include the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Headwaters Association and Jubilee Days Committee of Warsaw; the Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees in Windsor and Clinton; and the Osceola Optimist Club.

Question Delegate Selection

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Republican rules-making panel deliberated today on moves to change the way convention delegates are selected and allocated. Its decision will have a strong impact on the 1976 GOP convention's choice of a presidential nominee.

The 108-member Rules Committee of the Republican National Committee scheduled an afternoon session to consider the proposals which would open up the delegate selection process for the next convention and revise the method of allocating delegates to the states.

The Rules Committee's recommendations must clear both the national committee and the convention Rules Committee before they can be put to a vote at the convention next week. In past conventions they have been altered very little in the process.

The line was sharply drawn between liberals and conservatives Monday on the two major questions before the committee: how to bring more women, youths and blacks into the Republican party and how to fix the delegate strength of each state

At a day long committee hearing, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., John W. Gardner, chairman of Common Cause; Massachusetts Gov. Francis W. Sargent and others identified with the liberal wing of the party endorsed a proposed rule that would require state Republican parties to take positive action to assure that all segments of the voting population participated in party affairs.

The proposal was advanced as an alternative to setting quotas for youths, women and blacks. Quotas originally were recommended by a reform panel but were discarded when they came under heavy attack.

Sen. James Buckley of New York, a member of both the Conservative and Republican parties, and Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., a leading House conservative, attacked the alternate proposal as an attempt to set quotas indirectly.

Strong criticism also was directed by conservatives and delegates from small states at a variety of plans for allocating delegates among the states that would increase the influence of the large states in the 1976 convention.

David B. Kennedy, a delegate from Wyoming, said adoption of such a system "would destroy the Republican party as we know it."

The Republican party currently awards 80 per cent of its convention delegates on the basis of each state's electoral vote and the other 20 per cent on a bonus system that rewards states that went Republican in the last presidential election. The system recently was held unconstitutional by a federal district court because of the bonus awards. The decision has been appealed.

Educators Seeking Increases

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — If the University of Missouri can get some needed money from a special legislative session, they can, too, say presidents of eight state colleges and universities.

In a resolution made public Monday, the presidents requested that Gov. Warren E. Hearnes ask the legislature for $3.3 million in appropriations to fill requests turned down by the last session.

The requests include $39,877 to fund library requests and $2.7 million for repair and maintenance. The request for repair and maintenance is half the amount requested from the last general session.

Hearnes announced he would ask for a $3.5 million appropriation for the University of Missouri when legislators meet in a veto session Sept. 6. In the special session, legislators can only consider bills that the governor has vetoed or any programs that he suggests.

The college presidents, in the resolution, say their institutions "are faced with serious financial problems in funding library acquisitions and repair and maintenance of existing physical facilities."

The recommendations for library and repair funds, respectively:

Central Missouri State $113,208 and $320,660.

Lincoln $57,676 and $611,000.

Missouri Southern $49,828 and $50,750.

Missouri Western $49,464 and $146,418.

Northeast Missouri State $83,934 and $289,715.

Northwest Missouri State $79,392 and $345,000.

Southeast Missouri State $91,047 and $179,380.

Southwest Missouri State $106,328 and $824,232.

Payment Deficit Improves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's balance of-payments deficit improved dramatically in the April-June quarter, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said by one measurement, the official reserve transactions basis, the deficit improved by $2.5 billion over the first three months of the year. The red ink was $831 million.

The department said the deficit was concentrated in late June, when the floating of the British pound sterling created widespread speculation against the dollar in foreign currency exchange markets.

By a second key measurement, the net liquidity balance, the deficit was an estimated $2.3 billion, an improvement of $800 million from the first-quarter red ink of $3.1 billion.

Although the department's way of figuring the two balances is more complex, basically the net liquidity balance measures most transactions with foreigners, while the official reserve transactions balance is a broader measure and includes transactions with foreign central banks and governments as well.

The department said the speculative pressures against the dollar continued in July before abating, thus guaranteeing that the speculation will show up in the next balance-of-payments report.

Since President Nixon devalued the dollar last December, there has been less speculative pressure in foreign exchange markets than before.

Executive Is Accused Of Dynamite Attempt

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An indictment returned in U.S. District Court in Kansas City accuses the president of a major liquefied petroleum gas distributing company of attempting to dynamite a competitor's tank truck.

The four-count indictment, returned late Monday along with the filing of a companion civil suit, charges Robert W. Plaster, 41, of Lebanon, Mo., with violating federal antitrust laws and conspiring to violate federal firearms laws.

Also named as defendants were Empire Corp. and Harold Smith, president of two security firms which have performed services for Empire.

Plaster, a former Internal Revenue Service agent and an honorary colonel on the military staff of Missouri Gov Warren E. Hearnes, appeared before U.S. Magistrate Calvin Hamilton and was released on his own recognizance.

The indictment charges all three defendants with:

—Attempting to monopolize trade and commerce in the distribution and sale of liquefied petroleum gas in various local markets in Missouri and in certain other states where Empire does business;

—Violating federal firearms law by aiding and abetting the possession of an explosive device by two unindicted co-conspirators, the device consisting of 10 sticks of dynamite and detonating equipment;

—Violating federal firearms law by aiding and abetting in the possession of an unregistered explosive device.

The two unindicted co-conspirators were identified as James William Nash, who died in 1970, and Earl Harflinger.

In addition, Plaster and Smith were charged with conspiracy to commit the two firearms violations, including as an alleged overt act that Plaster procured Smith early in February, 1969 to hire the two unindicted co-conspirators to blow up a tank truck belonging to Leslie Heriford of Ava, Mo., also a distributor of liquefied petroleum gas and a competitor of Empire. The explosive device was never used.

The civil suit names only Empire as a defendant. It charges an attempt to monopolize in violation of Section 2 of the Sherman Act, and seeks injunctive relief and unspecified divestiture.

In Washington, Thomas E. Kauper, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division, said Empire has annual sales of about $25 million.

Empire markets liquefied petroleum gas through about 225 distribution subsidiaries in at least 20 states, he said, including Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah and Wyoming.

Both the indictment and the civil suit allege that the defendants entered into noncompetitive agreements with competitors and Empire distributors, sold liquefied gas below cost and threatened and attempted to injure or destroy the equipment of Empire's competitors.

Study Reveals the Needs Of Improved Juco System

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's junior college system should be expanded, better financed, and put under control of the state commission on Higher Education, a commission report said Monday.

New two-year colleges are justified in Kansas City, St. Charles, and the Bootheel area, said the commission's second plan for the Coodination of Higher Education in Missouri for the Seventies. The plant first was prepared in 1966.

The state now has 19 junior colleges with 14 campuses. The report said a new junior college may be needed in the Springfield area if new demands for vocational studies aren't met by other colleges in the area.

The 121-page report noted that in 1963, about five per cent of total state enrollment in higher education was in two-year institutions and by 1971, it was 21.4 per cent, with a total junior college enrollment of 39,890.

The Missouri's public junior colleges "should be brought as soon as practicable" under direction of the Commission on Higher Education, the report said.

There now is a division of responsibility between the commission and the state Board of Education in governing the two-year colleges.

Funding for junior colleges, which has not increased since 1967, should be brought to a level of $500 per fulltime student or 50 per cent of total instructional costs, whichever is less, the report said.

The commission also recommended creation of a new category, to be designated as state senior community colleges.

In this category would be Missouri Southern College at Joplin and Missouri Western College at St. Joseph. These colleges have separate junior college and senior college programs. There are six other state colleges, including Lincoln University in Jefferson City and five colleges recently authorized to be called state universities.

With adequate state support, the report said, there is no need for any more universities or state colleges before 1980 and there is no need to change any other junior college to senior college status before 1980.

"The commission feels that student enrollments through 1980 can be accommodated without construction of additional general purpose classroom buildings provided there is substantial improvement in the utilization of existing classroom facilities," the report said.

If existing facilities are remodeled, and replaced if they are obsolete, the report said, $192 million can be saved. Building additional campuses or classrooms to meet the expected enrollment growth of 40,000 to 50,000 students by 1980 will cost $280 million, the report said.

In 1971, Missouri's public colleges and universities enrolled 135,420 students and the private institutions, 50,975.

The report noted that state-supported colleges and universities received $144.9 million from state general revenue funds in 1971-72. This was five times the 1961-62 figure.

Some special purpose facilities are needed, the report said, and the commission recommended that $15 million in state funds be appropriated to the commission to be used as matching money for federal construction funds.

The commission also asked that all college administrations submit to the commission any proposed policy changes in degree and certificate programs.

The state colleges (now authorized to be called state universities) should stop establishing or expanding technical, career-type associate degree programs because this is the function of the junior colleges, the report said.

Admission programs, the report said, should favor Missouri residents over out-of-state students. About 25 per cent of all higher education students in 1968 were from other states.

By 1976-77, the commission said, no public college or university should exceed 15 per cent of non-Missouri students, and it suggested that any institution having less than 85 per cent of Missouri residents should enroll no more out-of-state students than it enrolled last fall.

Other recommendations were:

—That students fees not be raised, but lowered where at all possible.

—That all colleges and universities use the same standards on residency.

—That the state institute a work opportunity program to provide summer jobs for students.

—If the federal government loan program, now under reconsideration, is dropped, that the state substitute a loan program.

—And that no new graduate degree programs be started without consultation with the state commission on higher education.

Head-on Collision Claims Two Lives

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — A head-on collision on U.S. 66 killed two persons and injured two others three miles west of Lebanon Monday afternoon.

Both drivers were killed. The highway patrol said they were Lowell L. Snow, 50, of Conway, Mo., and Richard L. Knight, 23, of St. Charles, Mo.

Knight's wife, Myrtle, 23, and their son, Richard, 6, were injured severely.

The patrol said Snow was alone in a pickup truck driving east in the westbound lane of the divided highway.

Driver Is Killed In Freak Mishap

ST. JAMES, Mo. (AP) — A truck driver was killed Monday by a tire rim that flew off and hit him in the head while he was putting air in the tire at a service station.

Jackie Lee McClain, 30, of Caledonia, Mo., had stopped at the station to get a flat tire repaired. Coroner Paul Null said McClain hit the rim with a hammer just before the air pressure blew it off and killed him.

Oscar Levant Is Dead at 65

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Oscar Levant, the slouching figure in the dark baggy suit, would play a few flawless measures of George Gershwin's piano concerto in F.

Then he might insult his audience, another performer or the television sponsor. "I'll show you how unbreakable it is!" he shouted once as he smashed the sponsor's "unbreakable" radio against a wall.

That was Oscar Levant, pianist, wit, composer, author, eccentric, actor and television host who is dead at 65.

Levant had been professionally inactive for nearly a decade when he died in his sleep Monday afternoon. Authorities said he apparently died of natural causes and ordered an autopsy. In recent years he complained of edema, arthritis, insomnia and a host of other ailments.

Though he became famous first as the solosit in countless performances of 'Rhapsody in Blue," composed by his best friend George Gershwin, Levant left his mark as an eccentric. Demonstrating simultaneously his wit, his egotism, his illness and his talent, he once said, "There is a thin line between genius and insanity. I have erased that line."

The son of a Pittsburgh jeweler, Levant began making a living as a pianist when he was 15. He studied under the atonalist composer Arnold Schoenberg at one time and composed some seldom performed serious music. Later he had to his credit the hit song, "Lady, Play Your Mandolin" and the Academy Award winning tune "Until Today" from the late '30s film "Nothing Sacred."

As an expert in music and many other things, Levant was a panelist for 10 years on the "Information Please" radio program.

He said he thrived on sleeping pills and other drugs but didn't touch liquor. "I don't like it," he joked. "It makes me feel good."

His hypochondria made up a large part of his three books, "Memoris of an Amnesiac," "A Smattering of Ignorance" and "The Unimportance of Being Oscar."

As an actor he appeared in several movies, once in a film biography of Gershwin as a witty chap named Oscar Levant.

He was married twice, first to dancer Barbara Smith. The marriage ended in divorce in 1933.

Credit cards used, but not approved

You may love them or you may hate them, but chances are you've got at least one of them—those little pieces of plastic called credit cards.

Today, one out of every two families uses at least one credit card, reports Lewis Mandell, who directed the first comprehensive examination of credit card use in the United States for the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

The survey found that if a family uses credit cards at all, it generally uses several. Three credit cards is the median number for those families that use them, and a sizable proportion use six cards or more.

The interesting thing is that while credit cards are widely used, they are not widely approved of.

"Few Americans tend to think of credit cards as a good thing, whether they use them or not," says Mandell, who found that 75 per cent of all persons interviewed thought that credit cards make it too easy to buy things they may not really want or can't really afford.

Is the credit card replacing money or checks? Mandell's findings indicate it is not. Families using credit cards tend to write more checks per month than families who do not use such cards.

The conclusion is that credit cards are taking a place in America's financial life but are not taking the place of traditional methods of incurring debts or paying bills. (NEA)

Bugging cost a fortune

WASHINGTON — One of the major issues of the presidential campaign will be the extraordinary amount of money that is being wasted by Washington.

Buchwald

A perfect example is the recent bugging incident at the Democratic national headquarters. I have it on the highest authority that the Democrats plan to make this not a moral issue, but an economic one.

Fielding Tagafly, chairman of the Democratic Committee to Get the Goods on the Committee to Re-Elect the President, told me, "So far, almost $114,000 has been traced to the people involved in the bugging. There are strong indications that most of this money came from the Committee to Re-Elect the President. We are appalled by this."

"You mean you are appalled that the Republicans would bug your offices?"

"No. We are appalled that they would need $114,000 to do it. Anyone in the business will tell you a bugging job like that doesn't cost more than $10,000. They had a cost overrun on the job of over $100,000. There's no excuse for this, and we maintain that if the Republicans are that wasteful with their own funds, you can imagine what they've been doing with the taxpayers' money for the past four years."

"I hadn't thought of that," I said.

"Not only was it the most expensive job in modern bugging history, but it was also fouled up," Tagafly said. "It is our feeling the job was botched because it had been contracted to friends of the Administration, rather than being opened up to competitive bidding.

"This is not the first time the Administration has been involved in hanky-panky on contracts, and we intend to make it an issue in the campaign."

"If you say the job should cost only $10,000, what was the rest of the money for?"

"High living for the people involved. Suites at the Watergate, expensive meals, chauffeured limousines, long-distance telephone calls, trips to Florida. I kid you not, when all the facts are in, you're going to discover very little of the money went for bugging, but a lot of it went into the pockets and bank accounts of the contractors."

"But that's terrible," I said, "if you can't even find honest people to bug somebody's office."

"This thing smells worse than the Penn Central Railroad case," Tagafly said. "Not only were the people involved incompetent, but we have evidence that they used cheap and unsafe bugging equipment. Someone high in the Committee to Re-Elect the President okayed this equipment, and we're going to find out who it was."

"They could have started a fire in the Watergate," I said.

"Or one of their own people could have been electrocuted," Tagafly added. "Naturally everyone wants the biggest bug for a buck, but not when you risk the lives of innocent people."

"What do you think will happen now?"

"Well, if they follow the Lockheed formula, the people who loused up the job will ask Congress for a loan to compensate them for their losses. They'll say just because their equipment didn't work is no reason why they should lose money out of the pocket. Also, if we win our million dollar lawsuit, they'll probably ask Congress to compensate them for that."

"One last question. Do you think John Mitchell knew anything about it?"

"We're not sure. But we think Martha could have bugged him about it."

General, chaplain caught shoplifting

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — An astonishing number of sticky-fingered officers have been caught shoplifting from military PXs. The alleged culprits include the Pentagon general in charge of "war gaming" and, believe it or not, the top Jewish chaplain in the Air Force.

In almost every case, the arrests were hushed up to protect the brass. We have obtained the military arrest records, however, for the 12-state region from Maine to Virginia.

These amazing documents accuse dozens of high-ranking officers of snitching merchandise ranging from a $41.50 sports coat to a $1.70 pair of pliers.

We were so startled over these shoplifting charges that we consulted the American Psychiatric Association for an explanation. Why, we asked, would prominent people filch petty items that they could easily afford to purchase?

Most likely, they had "an emotional maladaption during childhood," that "seeks revenge during later years on society in general," suggested the psychiatrists.

Perhaps the most audacious theft was allegedly attempted by Brig. Gen. Harold Strack, who is in charge of "war gaming" for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the pinnacle command structure at the Pentagon.

The arrest record states that Strack entered the Fort Myer PX on May 31, tried on a sports coat, liked the fit, cut off the price tag and departed the store without paying.

He was about to make a fast getaway when he was apprehended by a security inspector who told us he had witnessed the entire episode. Relate the documents in the case:

"His (Strack's) wife was waiting for him at the curb in the car ... I (the security inspector) confronted him ... and asked to see his identification card. He stated, you think that I am trying to steal this coat ...

"I then asked him to come to the manager's office, which he did, and stated, I am a General, and if you all are trying to make something out of this, I will fight it."

We tried for four days to reach Strack, leaving several messages at his office. He has declined to return our calls.

Another arrest record charges that Col. Kalman Levitan, highest ranking Jewish chaplain in the Air Force, snitched $9.85 worth of pliers, drill bits and a cord connector from the Bolling Air Force Base PX on June 21.

The document states that a security inspector "observed SUBJECT (Levitan) remove the ... items from a display and conceal the drill bit and cord connector in his right rain coat pocket, and the pliers in his left rain coat pocket."

Chaplain Levitan told us simply that "the incident speaks for itself." However, an attempt was made to cover up the whole affair. It wasn't reported to headquarters until more than a month had elapsed.

One of the most fascinating cases involved a high-ranking reserve officer, who happens to be a vice president of one of New York's largest banks. He claimed he had been "exonerated" and pleaded he would lose his job if we mentioned his name.

Although his case looks to us like a whitewash, we will give him the benefit of the doubt and withhold his name.

States the arrest record: "SUBJECT removed 8 wrenches from a display and concealed them in his left coat pocket. SUBJECT removed the larger of the wrenches ... and concealed it in an inside coat pocket.

"He then removed 5 pairs of pliers from the display and concealed them in his right coat pocket. SUBJECT also removed 1 Power Lock Rule Tape Measure from the display and concealed in his right coat pocket."

The alleged thief told us he placed the $28.10 worth of merchandise in this raincoat because "otherwise it would fall through the wire meshing of my shopping cart." he paid $114.99 for other goods but walked off with the concealed items without paying, he said, because they "completely slipped my mind."

Apprehended by a security officer, the alleged shoplifter turned in the merchandise at the manager's office and then purchased the items the next day.

He told us he was exonerated by Col. Duane Erickson, the Bolling Air Force Base commander, who used a unique method to determine his innocence. The colonel said he stashed $28.10 worth of similar hardware in his own uniform to see if anyone could walk out of the store absentmindedly without paying.

We pointed out that the alleged shoplifter was wearing a raincoat. Erickson then changed his story and said he had stuffed the hardware in both his raincoat and military blouse. On the basis of this extra-judicial experiment, the colonel confirmed, he recommended that the bank executive be exonerated.

Footnote: What compounds the wrongdoing in these shoplifting cases is that the officers were allegedly stealing from their own troops. Profits from the PX system go directly to a welfare and recreation fund for the purchase of sports equipment and other items for GIs.

A Conservative View

Dow Chemical fighting system

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — The Dow Chemical Company filed a lawsuit out in Detroit the other day that merits the support of businessmen and ordinary taxpayers across the country. If the company prevails, we may see an end to the lunatic proposition by which employers, in effect, are compelled to finance a strike against themselves.

Kilpatrick

Dow's immediate purpose is to halt payment of unemployment compensation to employes at its Bay City plant. The workers went on strike last February. According to the company's complaint, filed in United States District Court against the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 135 of the 166 strikers have managed to qualify themselves for payments averaging $79.07 a week.

If the Bay City strike is at all typical of the recent trend in such affairs, the $79.07 in unemployment compensation is merely one wheel on a gravy train. A striker who puts his mind to free-loading, and really works at his task, may also qualify for general assistance, medical assistance, food stamps, and aid to families with dependent children.

This maddening state of affairs is ably reported in a book-length study just published under auspices of the Industrial Research Unit of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce. Prepared by Armand J. Thieblot Jr., and Ronald M. Cowin, the report provides an eye-opening account of developments that, from a striker's point of view, have taken most of the sting from a strike.

Until a few years ago, a prolonged strike was regarded on both sides of the bargaining table as something close to calamity. The employer stood to lose profits, orders and customers while much of his overhead continued, the employe stood to lose his own earnings and his union's reserves. Economic hardships were roughly balanced one against the other.

As the Thieblot-Cowin study makes clear, that rough balance has been thrown completely out of kilter. The 71-day strike at General Motors, in the fall of 1970, saw a dramatic change in the force of economic pressures. In Michigan's Genesee County alone, 30,000 strikers instantly obtained food stamps. As the strike wore on, other thousands qualified for AFDC and general assistance benefits. In New York, more than $5 million in unemployment compensation went to striking GM workers.

The Pittsburgh Press reported that 75 per cent of the 1,300 strike-idled workers at GM's Fisher Body Plant at West Mifflin, Pa., had obtained food stamps. One auto worker, with six children, obtained $180 worth of food stamps for $26. His problem was deciding which goodies to buy. A union spokesman remarked that "we have guys eating T-bone steaks now who never ate T-bones before."

Thieblot and Cowin estimate that the General Motors strike cost the general taxpayers at least $30 million in public funds. The Westinghouse strike, which ran from Aug. 28, 1970, to Jan. 25, 1971, involved a walkout by 5,100 workers in Delaware County, Pa. It cost the taxpayers at least $2.5 million. During the prolonged longshoremen's strike of 1971, some striking dock workers with a normal take-home pay of $176 were getting $338 in public benefits.

In the view of the two Wharton scholars, the effect of all this is seriously to imbalance the collective bargining process. As long as a striking worker is taking in from 60 to 100 per cent of his normal income, there is little financial incentive toward reaching agreement. Inflationary settlements tend to result, and everyone gets hurt in the end.

Union spokesmen, of course, eloquently defend their "right" to food stamps, AFDC benefits, and all the rest. They see nothing wrong in the process by which an employe goes on strike, and then soaks his employer for unemployment compensation. This may be logical in the union view, but some of the rest of us will be reminded of the child who slew his mother and father and then pleaded for mercy as an orphan. If Dow's suit results in breaking up even part of the racket, a measure of common sense may be restored.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

More people in the United States are believed killed by stinging insects than by any other form of animal life. Bee sting deaths are usually related to an allergy to the venom which affects the heart or breathing. Bees and wasps are said to become aroused by perfume; dark, coarse clothing; windy weather and especially by quick motions, The World Almanac notes.

Luncheon Held for Graduates

A president's luncheon for the 12 members of the State Fair Community College practical nursing class of 1972 was held Thursday at State Fair Restaurant.

Receiving graduate pins were Mrs. Margie Austin, Whiteman AFB; Mrs. Estella Cline, 308 West Henry; Mrs. Janet Davis, Homestead Trailer Court; Mrs. Louise Graham, Whiteman AFB; Mrs. Patricia Kempf, Route 2; Mrs. Brenda Kraft, Hughesville; Miss Constance Kindle, 423 North Summit; Mrs. Clara Moore, 1820 West Fifth; Mrs. Ortrud Poslusny, Whiteman AFB; Mrs. Nan Neal, formerly of Sedalia, now of Topeka, Kan.; Miss Martha Pugh, Whiteman AFB; and Mrs. Alma Rockwell, Centerview.

Mrs. Nancy Arnold, Route 5, who completed her program in June was also recognized.

An address was delivered by Dr. Robert C. Stockwood, chief of obstetrical service, Bothwell Hospital.

The "Rhonda Roadrunner" outstanding practical student nurse award went to Mrs. Brenda Kraft and runner-up was Mrs. Louise Graham.

Graduates will take the state board examination Oct. 19, according to Mrs. Yolanda Dolecki, coordinator of the practical nursing program.

Barbeque Change of Pace

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fresh corn remains a summer favorite. For barbeques, try a change of pace dish with a Corn and Cabbage Saute. Merely cut uncooked fresh corn from the cob and combine with scallions or fresh green onions, chopped cabbage and slivered carrots. Saute quickly. This dish may be cooked on a camp stove or barbeque unit.

CORN AND CABBAGE SAUTE

- 5 ears fresh Florida corn
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped scallions
- 2 cups chopped cabbage
- ¼ cup slivered carrots
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper

Remove husks and silks from corn. Cut kernels off cobs (makes about 3 cups). In large skillet melt butter. Add scallions and saute 3 minutes. Stir in corn, cabbage, carrots, salt and black pepper. Cook, stirring constantly 5 minutes or until corn and cabbage are just crisp-tender. Makes 6 portions.

'Ivory' Set Needs Cautious Cleaning

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I would like to offer the following suggestions to Carol who wants to clean her ivory vanity set. First she should determine whether or not it is real ivory or the more common celluloid imitation. If such a set is really ivory it is very valuable and should not be cleaned by anyone other than an expert in that line but if it is an imitation it could be safely cleaned and bleached with any household bleach. I have collected many such pieces and they are lovely and well-worth caring for. Do not expect all the stains and yellow to disappear and do not forget that celluloid is damaged by heat. Wash in soap and water after bleaching and polish with a soft cloth that has very little furniture polish on it. Good luck. — W. S. H., A Collector

DEAR READERS — There is a plastic that so closely resembles celluloid that I am now beginning to wonder if the old eyeglass case I cleaned with the bleach is not a celluloid-looking plastic. Regardless of what it is, it cleaned beautifully with the bleach treatment. There is an imitation of most everything today and often we are mistaken in what we really do have, so always proceed with caution. — POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — The cat scratched several small holes in the bottom of the arm on our black vinyl-covered couch. The holes are small and inconspicuous now but I am afraid they will get larger and hope someone can help with a Pointer telling me how I can fill in or cover these snags without the patches showing. — MRS. C. W.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that so many supermarkets have their produce and dairy products near the beginning of one's route through the store and by the time a shopper reaches the check-out counter the fresh fruit and vegetables and eggs, too, are crushed under a mound of other things. — MARGIE

DEAR POLLY — To save the time and trouble of getting out the box each time I need a trash-can liner, I remove them all, hang them on a coat hanger that hangs in a closet near the back door. I find this is very handy as it is easy to slip one off and have it ready to use. — MARLENE

100, 200 Events in Jeopardy

New Names Head USA's Sprint Entries

MUNICH (AP) — America's shorter-distance runners, for years dominant in Olympic Games competition, again appear powerful but the names are not at all the same as in the past.

When the sprinters go to their marks, the U.S. names will include Eddie Hart, Larry Black, Chuck Smith, Rey Robinson and Larry Burton. Even in the 400-meter dash, normally a U.S.-dominated event, the names are not household words.

Still, America figures to do well, despite the youth of the team. (In the three shortest races, the oldest runner is 25 and the average age is 21.8 years.)

Hart, the oft-injured former University of California NCAA champ, took 1972 cautiously and wound up making the U.S. team with a world-record-tying 9.9 in the 100 meters. He was joined on the team and in the record books by the 20-year-old Robinson, a virtual unknown until mid-June.

The third sprinter, husky Robert Taylor, came along quickly at the end of the season, making the team over such better-known dashmen as Mel Pender, Ivory Crockett, Marshall Dill, Willie Deckard, Willie McGee and Gerald Tinker.

For the first time in years, the United States is in jeopardy in the 100 since Russia's Valeriv Borzov, a powerful, picture book sprinter from the Ukraine, is unbeaten in the last two years.

However, the 200 meters is the biggest question mark.

Smith is in his fourth year of sprinting, Burton his first and Black his fourth. Smith was the surprise winner of the National AAU title and was first in the U.S. trials in 20.4. Burton, with a 20.3 time to his credit for 220 yards, shocked the experts by making the team.

And Black ran two 20.0 times this year, showing a powerful kick.

Jamaica's world record-holding Don Quarrie, Kenya's Julius Sang and Borzov may be favored but the Americans proved unpredictable once this year.

Americans have won 11 of the 16 Olympic 400-meter gold medals awarded down through the years and the only question this year is which American will win.

John Smith, the world 440-yard record holder, was No. 2 in the trials with a fast time of 44.3 seconds.

The man he didn't catch at Eugene, (Ore.,) was former UCLA teammate Wayne Collett. Collett came through with a swift 44.1 to win the trials and jump into the No. 3 spot on the all-time list. The time is the fastest ever run at sea level.

Vince Matthews, the old man of the U.S. sprint corps at 25, is the only one with Olympic experience. He ran the first leg on America's world-record 1,600-meter relay team in 1968 at Mexico City.

Matthews, of Brooklyn, N.Y., once ran 44.4 in the event. He made the team with a 44.9.

The 800 features new coworld record holder Dave Wottle against probably the world's toughest half miler, Russian star Yevgeniy Arzhanov.

Wottle, the Bowling Green ace who ran 1:43.3 to equal the world 800-meter mark, will have to beat Arzhanov, unbeaten the last two years.

Ken Swenson, the former American record holder, has apparently recovered from an Achillies tendon injury, and could be a factor.

The 110-meter high hurdle picture clouded up quickly in the last month.

Virtually unbeatable Rod Milburn began losing and he made the U.S. team only by taking third by an eyelash in the U.S. Trials. Tom Hill, who ran 13.5 at the trials, appears to have regained the form which took him to the 1970 AAU title. And Willie Davenport, the defending kingpin, is back.

The Americans are favored, and even a sweep is not unlikely, but certainly things aren't as clear as earlier this season.

Ralph Mann has something to prove and that's why he's the first choice of most in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles.

Mann was the NCAA and AAU champion in 1969, 1970 and 1971 as a student at Brigham Young but had a poor season in 1972 after graduating. He finally found himself, with the aid of UCLA Coach Jim Busch, and the tall (6-4) hurdler hopes his 48.4 time is just a forecast of what he's capable of.

Dave Hemery of England set the world record at 48.1 in Mexico City four years ago and Mann's time is the second best on record. Hemery is back, and Uganda's John Akii-Bua as well as Kenya's William Koskei are top threats.

The U.S. teams in the 400 and 1,600-meter relays are both among the favorites with the 400 team less solid.

Cuba, Russia and Jamaica have swift quarter-mile foursomes and it'll probably take a world mark—better than the 38.2 the U.S. team did last Olympics-to win.

Smith Collett, Matthews and Lee Evans make the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team a near unanimous choice to win that gold medal. The world mark of 2:56.1 may not be in jeopardy but there isn't a nation in the world with four better 400-meter dashers.

Sets Royals' Record

Dal Canton Cuts Yanks

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It may have been the heat that beat the New York Yankees Monday night.

Bruce Dal Canton, with ninth inning help from rookie Norm Angelini, pitched the Kansas City Royals to a 3-0 victory over the red hot Yankees, who dropped to third in the American League East. The weather was a sticky 91 degrees.

"I think I pitch my best on hot, humid nights," said Dal Canton, who retired 23 consecutive Yankees after yielding two first inning singles. The 23 straight broke the Royals' club record of 19.

"Of course, the heat finally wore me down. Big guys like me don't get along in heat like that for too long. I told them in the eighth I was getting pretty tired.

"Those two singles in the ninth proved it. I was waiting for Angelini . . ."

Dal Canton gave up only four singles — to Thurman Munson and Roy White in the first and to Horace Clarke and Munson in the ninth. He struck out three and walked none. His record is 6-4.

Sloppy fielding cost the Yankees and Steve Kline, 13-5, who started the game leading the major leagues with his earned run average of 1.69. Kline hadn't allowed a run in 25 straight innings until the Royals scored two, both unearned, in the third.

The Yankees, 1½ games behind first-place Baltimore in the East, committed four erros.

Gene Michael's bobble put Paul Schaal on first with nobody out in the third. Bobby Floyd singled Schaal to third and moved to second on the throw. Cookie Rojas and Richie Scheinblum drove them in with singles.

Eight-man Battle Royal Tops Card

An $800 purse will be on the line tonight when eight wrestlers tangle in a battle royal in the main event on the Convention Hall wrestling card.

The grapplers in the event are The Stomper, Chati Yokuchi, Nature Boy Kirby, Danny Little Bear, Pat O'Connor, Billy Howard, The Viking and Juan Sebastian. The last man in the ring will pick up the $800.

In other bouts, Stomper and Kirby collide in the 8:30 p.m. opener; Yokuchi takes on Little Bear, Sebastian and O'Connor clash and The Viking and Howard round out the rest of the card.

Tickets are on sale at the Coffee Pot Cafe and Zip Drug Store.

Mowin' 'em Down

Kansas City Royals' right-hander Bruce Dal Canton shows his form in the eighth inning of Monday night's game in Kansas City as he faces a New York Yankee batter. Dal Canton retired 23 straight batters after yielding a pair of singles in the first inning. He was not touched for a hit again until the ninth after one was out. The 23 batters Dal Canton sent down in a row broke a record set by Dave Morehead on May 25, 1970, when he sent down 19 in order.

Note Few Problems In Stadium Opening

By ROY M. CLARK
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — They said to come early so I did. At 2:45 p.m. Saturday, a full four hours before game time, I was sitting in an air-conditioned auto eagerly awaiting the chance to storm the parking gates of Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City.

One hour later I had passed the parking lot gate and was pacing around the outside of the stadium with my riding companions, the Bruce Richey family, Route 3. It would still be 15 minutes before the stadium gates opened. Old Sol was bearing down with all his might.

After circling the new structure, I headed for the car and a glass of cold lemonade. Shortly we were allowed to enter the stadium at a price of $8 a head. Passing through the northeast gate, we soon found out that the only way to get to our seats directly overhead in the third deck was to go to the southeast spiral walkway.

At approximately 4:15 p.m. I found myself in the fifteenth row of the third and uppermost deck. I was on line with the bisector of the right angle formed by the northeast corner of the playing field. The sun seemed to follow that bisector on its way west.

Of the 78,190 fans attending, the sun had to select me to torture with its 97-degree heat. Only Curley Culp could have been more dehydrated following the final gun.

It has been claimed that Arrowhead is the finest football stadium in the world. In heat like that no stadium is the best, but Arrowhead has everything going for it.

The biggest factor favoring the stadium, I concluded, is the fact that it is built solely for football. There truly is not a bad seat in the house. Actually the seats are so close to the field that Warpaint, the Chiefs mascot, may be getting a case of claustrophobia.

No fan could seriously complain of having a sore neck as was suffered by many at Municipal Stadium. All the seats face the tartan turf.

On the parking lot a fan said, "You're not supposed to look until you're inside the stadium." This was a valid statement because there are several improvements to be made outside, largely concerning the spiral walkways located at the four corners of the structure.

Only the one on the southeast corner is finished. The two on the west are passable but not complete. The walkway on the northeast is barely recognizable.

Inside one must be impressed by the vastness of the enclosure. I was amazed by the minute number of lighting fixtures for the playing field. Only four groups of 336 lights do an excellent job. Each group is arranged in four rows, 84 lights to each row, the result being that the lights barely extend above the stadium.

Then there's the much talked about scoreboard. Elliptical in shape, it has the capacity to do much more than was shown Saturday night. My first and major adverse criticism would have to be that the paying customers without a radio had no way of knowing what was going on around the NFL Saturday night. During the entire game we were given only one out-of-town score, that concerning the Miami-Green Bay game.

During the pre-season no harm may come of this practice, but when the regular season arrives fans will have to be informed in a better manner. Another wrinkle is that the scores are flashed above the local score and cannot be retained more than a few seconds.

The replay ability of the scoreboard is certainly fascinating. Presented in shades of gray, the images will remind the fan of the telecast from the moon in that there is no fine contrast in the picture.

During the game no instant replays were shown. Rumor was going around that a NFL rule prohibited displaying replays during the game. At the halftime break and following the game, the replays were shown and were interesting to watch.

I pity the poor fellow who was running the thing. Before the game we were welcomed to the "Governor's Up Game." After announcing the attendance the scoreboard flashed "The Largest Crown in Misori History." Improvements are needed.

The public address system was not in best shape either. The permanent fixtures are still to be added, and it was difficult to hear the announcements as they came from a temporary facility on the floor of the stadium.

The press box is a double level fixture on the second deck with enough space to accommodate 260 newsmen. It also has 60 closed circuit television monitors.

The most attractive feature at Arrowhead was undoubtedly the usherettes. It was difficult to get a good look at the stadium because the usherettes were a definite distraction. Thank goodness they left their posts after the start of the game.

Several dignitaries were introduced in antique cars before the start of the game. Until the player introduction of Len Dawson, the greatest ovation was given to — you guessed it — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton. The fans rose as his car passed by and gave a thundering cheer.

All things considered Arrowhead must, or will be, the finest football facility in the country. It has all the potential it needs.

Warsaw Captures League Tourney

SMITHTON — Warsaw won the Kaysinger Conference Junior Babe Ruth Tournament here over the weekend to keep its undefeated status, topping Stover 7-0 in five innings.

Tim Hedrick, Warsaw's star hurler throughout the season, allowed only three hits and struck out 12 batters during the game.

Warsaw picked up eight hits during the contest and was still batting when the game was called, due to the seven-run rule.

During the regular season, Warsaw was 10-0 while Stover was 8-2.

Pro Football Prospectus

Houston Oilers Face Many Problems

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Peterson is a pleasant enough fellow until he loses at something—whether it be cards or football—and then he gets downright nasty.

That being the case, Peterson could be in the wrong position in 1972 as the rookie head coach of the Houston Oilers.

"I don't like to lose," the personable Peterson said. "I lost one of my best friends the other night in a card game. He beat me and I got mad. I went to him the next morning and apologized but I can't stand to be beaten. It's a terrible thing to be that way."

But unless the Oilers can piece together an offensive line decimated by poor trades last year and injuries this year, and bolster a sagging running attack, Peterson may have to weather through some losing hands.

The offensive line is the Oilers' No. 1 problem. It was further weakened as training camp started when guard Bob Young refused to report in a contract squabble, tackle Gene Ferguson walked out of camp, asking to be traded, and the other starting tackle, Sam Walton, walked out, too. Then Elbert Drungo, shifted from starting guard to tackle, was knocked out for the season by a training camp knee injury that required surgery.

That left offensive line coach Joe Madro shaking his head with wonder.

"A starting line?" Madro repeats, almost laughing. "I truthfully can't say. "We have one starter from last year in the lineup. Even studying a good veteran like (tackle) Walt Suggs is difficult because they jumped him around so much last year." Madro had moved Drungo, a two-year starter at guard, to tackle to help fill the void. He put free agent Walter Highsmith at tackle to fill in behind Suggs and possibly serve as a swing man.

Another blow to the offensive line was the loss of free agent Robert Wells to knee surgery.

Center will be manned by either second-year man Calvin Hunt or rookie Guy Murdock of Michigan. Tom Regner is a favorite at guard and Michigan State rookie Ron Saul also is being counted on for support.

Alvin Reed is solid at right end for the Oilers and Charlie Joiner gets raves from Peterson at wide receiver. With second-year quarterbacks Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey vying for the starting job and veteran Charley Johnson to back them up, the passing game could go.

But will take some help from the offensive line.

Running back is another problem area for the Oilers, who won their last three games last season to finish 4-9-1 under Ed Hughes.

Woody Campbell and Robert Holmes return at the two starting spots from last year's running attack that averaged just 79 yards per game. Holmes is a powerful runner but the Oilers lack speed.

Talking about the Oiler defense helps Peterson forget about his offensive problems. Houston usually comes up with a good defense and 1972 is no exception.

Ends Pat Holmes and Elvin Bethea are veterans and No. 1 draft choice Greg Sampson of Stanford will back them up. Mike Tilleman and Ron Billingsley are the tackles.

Benny Johnson moved into a corner when Zeke Moore broke his arm in a freak dormitory accident.

Vying for Starting QB Job

A pair of second-year quarterbacks, Lynn Dickey (left) and Dan Pastorini, are expected to battle for the starting signal-calling job with the Houston Oilers this season. Backing up the two is veteran Charley Johnson.

Stars Take on New Orleans

(Democrat-Capital Service)

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—Sedalia, winners of the Midwest Plains Regional Junior Babe Ruth championship in Fargo, N.D., over the weekend, will meet New Orleans, La., in the opening game of the Junior Babe Ruth World Series Saturday at 5:30 p.m., here.

In the night's second first-round contest, host Pine Bluff takes on Montgomery, Ala., at 8 p.m.

Four games are set for Sunday. The opener pits Kirkland, Wash., against Hawaii at 1:30 p.m.; in the 3:30 p.m. game, Prince Georges, Md., takes on Puerto Rico, winner of the New England Regional crown.

Terre Haute, Ind., champion of the Ohio Valley Regional, will meet the winner of the Pine-Bluff-Montgomery game at 6 p.m.

The wrap-up contest on Saturday, scheduled at 8 p.m., finds the two Saturday losers battling to stay in the tourney.

There are two games each day Aug. 21 through Aug. 24. The championship game will be held on Aug. 25. If the team that gains the lower-bracket championship berth should defeat the upper-bracket finalist, the final and deciding game is scheduled for Aug. 26.

Bench The Sweeper Cleans Up Atlanta

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Bench swept the bases just for the hell of it, then swept around the bases for real.

The Atlanta Braves, who have joined the list of baseball clubs adding a bit of diversion to the game—mainly a shapely young lady who dusts off the bases midway in the game—found they had a new sweeper prior to their Monday night game with Cincinnati.

Before the regularly scheduled contest against the Reds, the Braves engaged in another growing ritual, a softball game against their wives. And halfway through the two-inning exhibition, out of the dugout, broom in hand, came . . .

"Johnny the Sweeper!"

His antics delighted the 15,318 Braves fans, who then watched the feminine mystique take its toll in an 8-0 victory over the Atlanta husbands.

But the fans were less than thrilled when the "real" game got under way. Bench, exploding out of a slump that had provided him with just two hits in 27 at-bats, manhandled the Braves by driving in five runs with a single, a double and his 26th home run, leading Cincinnati to a 12-2 romp.

In the only other National League game, Houston defeated San Francisco 7-5. In the night's two American League games, Oakland beat Baltimore 5-2 and Kansas City silenced the New York Yankees 3-0.

The Reds' slugger took the place of the Braves' "Susie the Sweeper," who occasionally plants a kiss on the cheek of a player or umpire—or swats one with the broom.

He billed himself as "Bench the Basepath Beauty"—and he was, indeed, that, with his Cincinnati uniform shirt barely covering the white "hot pants" he wore for the occasion.

"I don't know too many guys of his stature who'd do it," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, "but I tell you, when he started over toward first base and I saw those wives standing over there on the sidelines, I said to myself: 'Oh, boy! Please don't grab one of them'!"

Bench didn't. He went one better. After finishing his housecleaning tour of the bases, he planted his kiss on the cheek of the home plate umpire—heavyweight boxer Jerry Quarry.

He kissed off the Braves pretty quickly with his two-run homer in the first inning, then singled to drive in the last of four Reds runs in the sixth and doubled to drive in two more in capping a four-run seventh. "I swept the cobwebs off or something," he said of the end of the slump.

Roger Metzger and Cesar Cedeno drove in two runs apiece for the Astros, who remained 5½ games back of the front-running Reds in the NL East. But it was Jim Wynn who had the big RBI of the night, a tie-breaking single in a four-run seventh that propelled Houston past the Giants.

Mike Epstein and Joe Rudi slugged homers for the A's and Bert Campaneris, dazzling Baltimore by stealing three bases, scored a pair of runs.

Reeves Out of Retirement

Dallas Cowboys' coach Tom Landry said late Wednesday that former Cowboy's runningback Dan Reeves was being brought out of retirement as the club's backup quarterback. Reeves will help fill the spot left open on the Dallas' roster by the shoulder injury to starting quarterback Roger Staubach. (UPI)

Women's Amateur

Three Chase Boddie

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Shreveport, La., golfer Barbara White Boddie has three competitors hot on her heels today as the second round of qualifying begins in the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Boddie, who runs a tavern with her husband, shot a three over par 75 Monday on the 6,138-yard St. Louis Country Club. She had a 38-37 against par of 35-37.

Coming in second with 18-hole totals of 76, were Lancy Smith, Williamson, N.Y., Martha Kirouac, Anaheim, Calif. and Janet Webber, 22-year-old college graduate from Fresno, Calif.

"The key to this course is the first four holes," said Mrs. Boddie at the end of her round in humid, 90-degree weather. "They are terribly difficult. If you can play them in two over par you can do well."

She called the greens "absolutely treacherous. I made only one putt all day, a six-footer for a birdie on No. 15. On No. 6 I was three feet above the hole and I rolled my putt five feet past."

Two boys, ages three years and 18 months, have slowed down the holder of a record 69 round in past National Amateur qualifying. She said the National is the only tourney she enters now, except when the Louisiana State or Southern meet is held in Shreveport or nearby.

The field of moe than 100 will be culled to 32 today as match play entires are chosen. The first match round Wednesday will be followed by two Thursday, semifinals Friday and the 36-hole final Saturday.

Two women, defending champ Laura Baugh, Whittier, Calif., and Hollis Stacy, Savannah, Ga., follow the top two scores with 77.

On opening day Johya Stapp, Miami, Okla., was disqualified for using a red ball, against USGA regulations.

Judy Bell, Denver, Colo., was taken off the course suffering from heat protration after the first 10 holes.

Picks SFCC

Derrick Crank, a 1972 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, has signed a letter of intent to play baseball for State Fair Community College. Crank lettered for two seasons under head S-C baseball coach Skip Schulz. In 1972, he served as the Tigers' co-captain and hit .267. Crank also participated in football, track, basketball and wrestling. He lettered three years in football and two years in wrestling. He was also selected as the Most Outstanding Senior in Football. Crank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas T. Crank, Sr., 626 East 24th. He plans to major in auto-technology.

Sain Develops Another Winner

CHICAGO (AP) — Johnny Sain, the Chicago White Sox pitching coach, has one leg on his own personal triple crown.

Wherever Sain has been, he usually has had a 20-game winner, his team has won a championship and his manager has been manager of the year.

In this year of 1972, Sain has accomplished the fact that Wilbur Wood has won 20 games. Now he wants the Sox to win the pennant and Chuck Tanner be named the manager of the year.

You have to go back with Sain. In the late 1950's he was the pitching coach of the Kansas City A's.

"They were known as the farm team for the New York Yankees," said Sain. "They traded off Roger Maris, Ralph Terry and Hector Lopez to the Yankees. I figured they didn't want to win, so I left."

Sain went to the New York Yankees and Whitey Ford won 25 games, the first time he had reached the 20-game plateau in his career.

The Yankees, under Ralph Houk, also won flags in 1962 and 1963. Houk won manager of the year laurels.

Sain went from the Yankees to the Minnesota Twins. The Twins won the pennant in 1965 as Jim (Mudcat) Grant recorded 20 triumphs. The next year Jim Kaat was a 20-game winner.

Then it was to Detroit. In 1967 Earl Wilson won 20 games for the Tigers. The following year Denny McLain won 31 games and McLain again won 20 games in 1969.

Despite his success, Sain became a target of criticism.

"They said I built a wall between my pitchers and the rest of the ball club," said Sain. "It's not true. Pitchers need hitters to win ball games."

Sain is a teacher of no running by his pitchers and this has become a factor in his career.

Bo, Chance Join Fight Game

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, those fun-loving Los Angeles Angels pitchers of the early 1960s, are back together. This time their bag's boxing.

Belinsky will serve as a matchmaker for the Ernie Shavers-Vincente Rondon heavyweight bout his former teammate, Chance, is promoting.

The two heavyweights will sign here Wednesday for the 10-rounder Aug. 26, in the Canton Municipal Auditorium.

"I'll keep Dean straight," said Belinsky, plunging into the fight game for the first time. Chance has promoted 75 minor matches in the last three years in Ohio, even while he was still pitching in the majors.

"I was doing everything," said Chance, explaining his tie with Belinsky again, "publicity, matchmaking, managing the fighter and promoting."

Belinsky, 35, a bit pudgier than his playing weight of 187 pounds, talked about his new assignment.

"I'll announce the cards. I'll even wear a tuxedo. Boxing's at a standstill. I'd like to boost it up," said the handsome left-hander who won 25 games in a checkered big league career.

Belinsky, noted for his night life in the majors, has spent the last two months helping Chance, twice a 20-game winner in the American League.

"I was even down on Dean's farm," said Belinsky proudly. "I was stacking hay and straw. You find out your're not in shape when you start tossing those 60-pound bales around."

Raiders Post 16-0 Win

Oakland Breaks Colts' Wishbone

OAKLAND (AP) — The Baltimore Colts gave pro football its first taste of the Wishbone Offense, all the rage on college gridirons, when nothing else seemed to work against the Oakland Raiders.

But the Raiders broke the Wishbone and won Monday night's National Football League preseason game 16-0.

George Blanda, who played college football when the Single Wing was still big on campus, kicked field goals of 24, 30 and 23 yards. He also added the extra point after Kenny Stabler's 8-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff in the third period.

"It looks like George is kicking as good as ever. You could see that tonight," said Raiders Coach John Madden of the well-preserved star whose 45th birthday is on opening day of the NFL season.

Jack Mildren, who mastered the Wishbone as Oklahoma's quarterback, made it go 48 yards in the fourth quarter against Oakland.

Mildren rushed for more than 1,000 yards last year, but pitched out on every running play Monday night. He completed a 39-yard pass to former college teammate Willie Franklin but then gave up an interception which ended the drive and the night's Wishbone experiment.

Baltimore's No. 1 quarterback, Johnny Unitas, passed for 126 yards before leaving the game at halftime. But three field goal attempts by Jim O'Brien in the first half failed.

Stabler completed 8 of 12 tosses for 109 yards after relieving starter Daryle Lamonica.

In other NFL developments Monday, Dallas Coach Tom Landry moved backfield coach Dan Reeves into the backup quarterback spot behind Craig Morton and switched Sid Gillman from the research and development job into Reeves' post.

The shakeup followed a shoulder separation suffered by No. 1 quarterback, Roger Staubach, expected to be sidelined eight to 12 weeks.

Wide receiver Karl Noonon of the Miami Dolphins was reported in satisfactory condition at Mercy Hospital in Miami after suffering a shoulder separation. Doctors said they would decide within the next couple of days whether Noonan would require surgery.

Houstonia Into Upper Bracket Tourney Finals

(Democrat-Capital Service)

MARSHALL — Houstonia Hamm's has gained the other winner's bracket semifinal berth in the district softball tournament here, with a 6-1 win over Gibson's of Marshall. Houstonia will now take on Stahl's Specialty Co. of Kingsville, in Thursday night's upper-bracket final.

In loser's bracket action, Mike O'Connor Motors remained alive in the double-elimination playoffs with a 5-3 win over Gerke's Grocery of Pilot Grove.

Houstonia spotted Gibson's an early 1-0 lead, before rallying for six runs in the final three innings to post the win. Bob Sevier went the distance and picked up the victory.

O'Connors scored four runs in the first two innings and held off Pilot Grove for their win. O'Connors will now meet Gibson's tonight at 9 p.m.

John Fiene was the winning pitcher; he allowed only six hits, four of which were yielded in the sixth, when Gerke's picked up their three runs.

Full-time Assistant For Mizzou Baseball

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Gene McArtor has been named a full-time assistant to University of Missouri baseball Coach John "Hi" Simmons.

McArtor has been a graduate assistant coach for the last three years. He was a first baseman for the Tigers from 1961 to 1963 and is a native of Webster Groves, Mo.

The fact that you have made a limit bid does not mean that you won't find another call if partner jumps to game, provided that his jump to game is made in some new suit.

North's one no-trump response is correct. He only has eight high-card points and definitely should not respond two hearts. Had South jumped to three no-trump or four spades North would have passed quickly but South jumped to four hearts and North's hand suddenly became tremendous.

He decided to use Blackwood on the way to a slam and when South jumped to six clubs, North went into a real huddle.

Theoretically, the six-club call showed no aces and a valuable void suit but clearly South would not have jumped to six with no aces. After all, North had limited his high card holding when he responded one no-trump.

What could the bid mean? Could South hold a club suit? Impossible! Then what did he hold? North finally worked it out and bid the heart grand slam.

Just for the fun of it, take a look at the West hand. He had made a trap pass over the one spade opening; a surprised pass over the four heart rebid and a really brilliant pass over the final contract of seven hearts. He paid off to the grand slam, but he saved the extra points a double would have cost him.

Asset Growth Revealed

In a news release early last week, Preston Martin, chairman, of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, announced that, "the heavy flow of savings to savings and loan associations continues to defy seasonal patterns," and that "mortgage loans closed by FSLIC-insured savings and loan associations totaled a record $5.3 billion in June, making it 'two good months in one'."

The Democrat-Capital checked with Ed Mitchell, president, First State Savings Association, one of Sedalia's primary lending institution for home building and home purchasing in this area, to see how Sedalia and the area stacked up in comparison with the national trend.

Mitchell reported that during July savings and investment receipts at First State amounted to more than $2 million, the largest for any single month in the history of the firm. He said that withdrawals during the month amounted to $867,000, for a net savings growth of $1,158,706. Also during July, total mortgage loans closed by the organization amounted to $1,890,805. Loan repayments during the period amounted to $437,174.

Total assets of First State, which has branches in Marshall, Clinton, Warrensburg and Tipton and an agency operation in Warsaw, amounted to $44,765,034.69 as of July 31, Mitchell reported. "This is the biggest growth year we have ever experienced," he stated, "and our net asset growth for the six month period ending June 30, was $4,557,422.48."

The four banks of Sedalia — Third National, Sedalia Bank and Trust, Union Savings and Missouri State — plus the Smithton Bank, have all shown a good growth patterns during the period from Dec. 31, 1971, through June 30, 1972. The growth in assets of these financial institutions, taken from published statements, has risen to a combined total of $76,243,819.95, up from $73,163,847.01 at the end of the year. This represents a growth of $3,079,972.94.

The Farmers and Merchants Bank, Green Ridge, also showed a growth in total assets, from $3,670,195.57 at Dec. 31, 1971, to $3,906,819.69 on June 30, 1972, a net growth of $236,624.12 over the six-month period.

The total asset growth of the seven financial institutions surveyed amounted to $7,874,019.54.

Lebanon Derailment

Cleanup operations began Monday after a Frisco freight train derailed Sunday near Lebanon, Mo., which caused a tank car filled with liquid fertilizer to explode and spread flames to 25 other cars. Officials estimated the blaze damage at $800,000, and reported seeing flames as far as 25 miles away. An area of a mile around Lebanon was evacuated. (UPI)

Expect Chilly Reception For Refugees of Uganda

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The British government said it is preparing to offer refuge to 60,000 colored people of Asian extraction being expelled from Uganda. But they may find themselves as unpopular in Britain as they are in their East African homeland.

Labor party leader James Callaghan said he regrets that British passports were ever issued to the Asians in Britain's former African colonies.

Francis Boyd, a columnist for The Guardian, wrote that the welcome for the "lost souls" from Uganda will be "somber at best."

"Where are the houses for these people, the jobs or the school places for their children?" asked a letter writer to The Guardian, B. Dalton.

The Uganda Asians and those in neighboring Kenya and Tanzania retained their British citizenship when their countries became independent. This entitled them to emigrate to Britain at any time. But five years ago Kenya cracked down, to end the Asians' hold on the country's commerce, and the resultant influx into Britain touched off a racial scare among lower class whites fearful of the competition for jobs and cheap housing. The Labor government responded by sharply restricting immigration.

Now President Idi Amin of Uganda has given the holders of foreign passports in his country 90 days to get out. Most of them are of Asian extraction, with an estimated 60,000 holding British passports, and an unknown number of others holding Indian or Pakistani papers. Britain's Conservative government says it will honor the British passports, but so far it has come up with no concrete plans.

Britain is one of the more densely populated countries in the world, with 587 persons to the square mile — about 10 times as many as the United States. Many of its 55 million people are beset by economic ills and shortages or housing, schools and hospitals. There are nearly one million people out of work.

Trouble between white and colored communities in the cities is coming increasingly to the surface. Rioting in Liverpool last week was blamed largely on racial antagonism in a district where housing is in short supply or of poor standard.

Self-Government In China Cities

PEKING (AP) — Governing a large city in China is not looked upon as a major problem as it is in the United States — they simply break the city down into a number of self-governing units.

It will be news, too, to Mayors Daley and Lindsay that Nanking doesn't consider garbage collection difficult because surrounding farmers come and collect it for their pigs. Other cities have more conventional means.

A self-governing district here in West Peking demonstrates how the system works. It comprises 53,000 people. It has six factories and 14,300 residences. Housing is mostly Chinese-style, around courtyards, with one or two rooms occupied by each family. Cooking is done outside for the most part, on simple stoves. Apartment houses have other facilities.

Like all political units since the Cultural Revolution in China, this district is governed by a revolutionary committee composed of professional administrators, worker representatives and army representatives. The committee works full time and is paid, but 25 subcommittees are not paid. The members work in factories or do other tasks.

The city's central administration furnishes police, water, lights and gas but the rest is left to the district revolutionary committee. It maintains the services.

The district has a central pool of plumbers, electricians, carpenters, etc., on call for major home emergencies. Minor repairs are expected to be taken care of by the householder himself in keeping with China's policy of "making do"—don't ask the government to do something you can do yourself.

All able-bodied members of a family work except for maternity leave.

Children are left in day-care centers run by a committee of teachers and wives. Because this work is considered part-time the wives sew and embroider tablecloths, napkins or baby clothes for sale to the state. They are paid by the piece.

The committee and district administer the health program. This includes a hospital, seven outpatient clinics staffed by doctors and nurses, many "barefoot doctor" clinics and below them the health workers who see that vaccines are administered and that education in diseases is carried on.

In the Chinese political structure — city or country — the theory is to break down administration into the smallest unit feasible, govern it by a revolutionary committee whose members are known to everyone, and make it as self-sufficient as possible. The committees are elected for three years by "discussion" — a majority vote eventually.

Although 53,000 people live in this unit, it is not a large area. Housing is very tight — one family has nine people and four generations in a room 40 by 10 with a partition.

With 25 subcommittees, government is a very personal matter in this small area with two main streets and 132 lanes.

Protest Arrests Hinted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst says the Justice Department would make mass arrests on a "May Day" scale if demonstrators tried to disrupt the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach next week.

But Kleindienst told a news conference Monday at the American Bar Association's 95th annual meeting:

"I don't even remotely expect that to come about."

Some 12,000 persons were arrested in Washington, D.C., over three days in May 1971 by policemen acting without warrants. All but a small percentage were either acquitted or forfeited bond. Civil liberties lawyers now are suing the department, claiming illegal detentions and arrests.

Kleindienst said there were innocent people arrested in the capital, "and I'm very sorry about that," but, he went on, some 25,000 antiwar demonstrators were "bent on the disruption of Washington, D.C., and stopping the operation of government."

Police officers obviously "had reason to believe they were about to commit a misdemeanor, at least," Kleindinest said.

Kleindienst said the federal government would move against a Miami Beach disruption only if local officials were no longer able to maintain order and Gov. Reubin Askew declared a "state of emergency" and sought Washington help.

Extended Russian Market Uncertain

KANSAS CITY (AP) American wheat farmers can't count on a long-term expanded market in Russia, says a market expert.

J. H. Parotte, executive secretary of the International Wheat Council, said Monday that poor Russian harvests forced the Soviets to make a $750 million, three-year purchase of American grain.

Parotte said he expects Russia to "increase its domestic production in order to avoid having to resort to massive purchases in the future."

He noted that both Canada and Australia, the world's other two major grain exporters, also have poor harvests this year.

"The United States is really the only country that can supply such a considerable amount of wheat," Parotte said. But he doesn't expect American wheat to permanently infringe on markets of the other exporters.

Newlyweds Hauling Garbage

CHATHAM TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Newlyweds Patricia and Tom Crawford don't have time to argue about who takes out the garbage. They're too busy hauling it around in a truck.

Patricia, 18, has been driving Crawford's big 10-speed garbage truck and helping him load refuse each morning since they were married Aug. 2.

Crawford is an employe of the Model Disposal Co. in this well-to-do suburb of New York City. Patricia doesn't get paid but with her help Tom is able to finish his work two hours earlier.

The bride, a June graduate of a local high school, said she and Tom don't care for fancy occupational titles: "Some people call themselves sanitary engineers, but we just call ourselves the garbagemen."

Tom and Patricia wear cutoff blue jeans and old shirts to work, and both have shoulder-length dark hair. Tom is the garbageman with the beard. His wife occasionally wears a straw hat to help balance the drums she sometimes carries on her head.

They leave their apartment in nearby Madison at 5 a.m. six days a week to pick up the garbage of several hundred customers. They share the work, each making curbside or backyard pickups and driving the huge truck.

Together, they carry and drag the 60-gallon plastic container they fill with trash at each stop.

"It's good exercise and I enjoy it. I'd definitely rather work outdoors. This way you keep moving and see different people. It's great," Patricia said. "And I'm with my husband all day. How many other people can say that?"

Wins Wings

Second Lt. Stephen M. Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ray, Green Ridge, was awarded silver wings upon graduation from U.S. Air Force navigator training school at Mather AFB, Calif. He was commissioned in 1971 through Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex. The 1966 graduate of Green Ridge High School holds a B.S. degree from Central Missouri State University. Ray is remaining at Mather for advanced training.

Admit Actress For Observation

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Actress Ann Miller was sent to a hospital for observation Monday night when a stage boom hit her in the head, forcing cancellation of the opening of the musical "Anything Goes" at the Municipal Opera.

Spokesmen said Miss Miller was only dazed by the blow and was expected to be on hand for tonight's performance.

Doctors found the actress was lightly stunned and although she wanted to continue they recommended she be examined.

The accident occurred backstage during the first act. It was the first time a star has been injured in the 54-year history of the outdoor theater.

Jackson Claiming Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson is claiming growing Senate support as well as White House backing for his demand that the United States negotiate "equality" with the Soviet Union in any future strategic-arms-limitation agreement.

Jackson counted 27 cosponsors for his equality amendment going into today's third day of Senate debate on the five-year U.S.-Soviet interim agreement limiting offensive missiles.

As leaders continued to press for an early vote, Jackson said some of his supporters are unwilling to set a time until all pending amendments to the resolution of approval can be disposed of on the same day.

Jackson claimed unequivocal White House support for the language of his amendment, although conceding that the administration has refrained from endorsing his or any other interpretation.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., called for a letter from President Nixon or his national-security adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, spelling out just what they accept or reject in the Jackson interpretation.

The offense-weapons limitation, signed by Nixon in Moscow on May 26, is subject to approval by the House and Senate.

Jackson told the Senate Monday that the interim agreement permits Russia to achieve superiority in numbers of missiles and in payload capacity by the end of five years.

"We can expect the Russians to flight-test MIRV at any hour," he said. MIRV is the system using multiple warheads, aimed at several targets, on a single missile.

The United States, Jackson argued, should serve notice now that in starting Phase 2 SALT negotiations from an inferior position its negotiators will not settle for less than equality in weapons systems in any permanent agreement.

Girls Give Reports To Club

The Sedalia Rotary Club received a report from Miss Janis Phillips and Miss Katy Schrader of their experiences when they were in attendance at the 1972 Girl's State in June at Stephens College, Columbia, at the regular meeting of the club held Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

Miss Schrader is the daughter of Mrs. Carl G. Schrader, 715 West Third, and Miss Phillips is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, Walnut Hills. The mothers of both girls were guests of the club for the meeting.

Introduction of the program was handled by Robert Phillips, who is vice-president and current general program chairman of the club, and Janis' father.

Charles Hofheins, club president, urged committee chairmen to prepare and turn in program of committee work reports within the next two weeks in preparation for official visit of Rotary District 607 Governor Len Gregg, Warrensburg.

Guests for the meeting were Lyle Burroughs, Mount Pleasant, Iowa, Bill Van Dyke, Lee's Summit, and Hubert Wheeler, Jefferson City, all Rotarians. They were introduced by Jess Walthall.

Atomic Power Heart Anything But a Joke

By KEN GEPFERT
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — "I just keep thinking that I might blow up," joked Virginia Recupero from a hospital bed after becoming the only woman in America with an atomic powered heart.

Mrs. Recupero, a 53-year-old grandmother from Key West, Fla., Monday became the first American woman to have a nuclear-powered pacemaker — designed to regulate and stabilize the heartbeat — implanted in her body.

Less than an hour after the 30-minute operation, Mrs. Recupero said she felt "just wonderful" and found it "really hard to believe I underwent surgery at all.

"They just gave me a local anesthetic and the doctor explained what he was doing during the operation," she said.

Dr. Sol Center, a Miami surgeon who performed the implantation, said there was no hazard of radioactivity facing his patient "or anyone else under normal situations."

He said Mrs. Recupero would be required to wear an identification bracelet in the event she was injured in an accident and the atomic device was damaged.

Center compared the operation to a tonsilectomy in simplicity and predicted that the implantation of nuclear-powered pacemakers "will become a common procedure in the United States once the supply becomes more available and the cost is scaled down."

Mount Sinai Medical Center, where the operation was performed, was alloted two atomic devices for experimental implant by the Florida Division of Health and Rehabilitative Services under permits from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The nuclear power packs are about 2.4 inches in diameter and 4-5 of an inch thick. They cost about $5,500 each now, excluding hospitalization and doctor bills, compared to a $1,000 price for conventional, battery-powered pacemakers, the doctor said.

The big advantage of the atomic devices, he said, is that they require replacement only once every 10 years compared to the 21-month average life span of the conventional pacemakers.

Mrs. Recupero, who underwent open-heart surgery eight years ago and has been wearing a conventional pacemaker for two years, was the third American to receive an atomic pacemaker — two of the devices were implanted in male patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Buffalo, N.Y. last month.

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon will play hostess to members of the U.S. Olympic team.

Team members, trainers and coaches — a total of 600 guests — will be greeted by the President's wife Thursday at the White House.

It was not immediately know whether the President, an avid sports fan, would be there.

The team will be in Washington for the day and has several other events on its schedule before it leaves for Munich, Germany, the site of the forthcoming Olympics.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox has packaged a televison variety show which he hopes to syndicate.

Maddox, who said he has always felt that "one of my best talents was in the field of entertainment," described the new venture Monday as a vehicle for carrrying "the story of private enterprise, patriotism and faith in God to the people of this country."

He added that the show would not be controversial. "It's going to be fun, interesting, folksy and down to earth," Maddox said.

Maddox, governor of Georgia between 1967 and 1970, said he has filmed two 30-minute pilot segments before live audiences.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Mort Sahl, 45, has been sued for divorce by his wife of almost two years, actress Margaret Lee.

Miss Lee, 29, cited "irreconcilable differences" in her Superior Court petition Monday. They have no children. The marriage is her first, his second.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Evangelist Jimmy Snow, who forsook a country music career for the ministry, has filed for a divorce after 14 years of marriage.

Snow, 38, son of country music great Hank Snow, asked for an uncontested divorce from his wife Carol. His petition said he and his wife have agreed to a property settlement and a custody settlement for their two daughters — aged nine and seven months.

Snow founded the Evangel Temple in Nashville in 1965, eight years after giving up a musical career for the ministry. He was ordained an Assemblies of God minister in 1963.

Kidnaping Charges Are Filed

NEW YORK (AP) — A 22-year-old woman was arraigned Monday on charges of kidnaping her daughter from the child's paternal grandparents, who claim legal custody.

Mrs. Jean Jones was held without bail for a hearing Sept. 11 on charges that she kidnaped Jennifer, 4, from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jones in Ottawa, Kan., on July 10.

The girl's father, Kevin Jones, 27, a law student, was arrested last Tuesday while strolling with Jennifer near his home on Charles Street in Greenwich Village.

Later Tuesday, he was released on $500 cash bond in lieu of $5,000 bail.

The elder Joneses claim their son and his wife signed papers giving the grandparents legal custody of Jennifer shortly after her birth and before the young couple were married.

Kevin Jones says he and his wife thought they merely were signing a paper giving his father the right to take the child across state lines and obtain medical treatment for the baby.

The young couple cannot be extradited to Kansas without authorization from Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Under Kansas law, the maximum penalty for kidnaping is life imprisonment, and the minimum is five years in jail.

Discuss Chalmers Situation

TOPEKA (AP) — The Kansas Board of Regents will hold a special meeting in Topeka Saturday afternoon to discuss the status of Dr. E. Laurence Chalmers Jr., University of Kansas chancellor.

The meeting was called after Chalmers notified the regents that his wife, Mary Ann, was granted an emergency divorce decree in Olathe Friday.

Judge Harold Riggs granted the decree after hearing testimony in his chambers. Papers in the case were not made public until Monday.

Max Bickford, executive officer of the board, said Chalmers told the regents of the divorce because "he wanted them to be apprised of the situation before they read about it in the press."

Gov. Robert Docking's press secretary, Hames Shaffer, told newsmen "the governor considers the divorce a personal matter between the chancellor and Mrs. Mary Chalmers and he has said he does not intend to contribute to the dialogue about the situation by discussing it."

The divorce was granted on grounds of incompatibility.

The Chalmers were married in 1950 and have two sons, Tom, 15, and Chip, a sophomore this fall at the University of Colorado.

Chalmers, 43, became chancellor Feb. 15, 1969. Last Jan. 14 he rejected an offer to become president of Ohio State University.

Burlison Suggests Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bill D. Burlison, D-Mo., wants public officeholders to receive the same protection against libel and slander that is accorded other citizens.

Burlison introduced a resolution in the House last week proposing a constitutional amendment permitting "any person deemed newsworthy" to recover damages for libel or slander.

At present public officials "can be libeled and slandered and there is nothing that can be done about it," the congressman wrote in a letter to constituents.

His proposal has been sent to the House Judiciary Committee for Review.

Burlison said he was making the proposal in light of what he called "the libel of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., by columnist Jack Anderson." Anderson said in a radio broadcast, while Eagleton was the vice presidential nominee, that the senator had been arrested several times for drunken and reckless driving.

Eagleton termed the report a lie and Anderson later apologized and retracted the story.

High National Grocery Bill a Sure-fire Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's grocery bill is higher than ever this presidential election year who gets what share of the pie — and the blame — from rising food prices is heating up.

Candidates are farmers, middlemen and retailers, all of whom say they are caught in an economic crunch.

Some typical breakdowns of food prices:

A pound of choice beef c

A pound of choice beef can average of $1.14 the last time government shoppers checked the nation's food stores. Ranchers took 78 cents of that and the men who slaughter, ship, wrap and sell the meat the other 36 cents.

On lettuce the split was 22 cents a head for retailers and processors, 10 cents for farmers. Of the 25 cents for a loaf of bread, 4 cents went to farmers.

Altogether, marketers get an average 60 cents of every food dollar. The place to study the question of rising food prices, says Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, "is in the processing and distribution system between the farmer's gate and the consumer's table."

What about farmers? There are more dollars to go around now than ever before, and farmers are getting two cents more of the food dollar than they did a year ago.

Retailers say they're not profiting from the rising food prices. Of criticism to this effect, economist S. Kent Christensen of The National Association of Food Chains said, "We think we're getting the brunt of this and we don't deserve it."

The reason: Retailer-profit margin, expressed as a percentage of sales, has dwindled to what Christensen now estimates at no more than seventenths of 1 per cent. Agriculture Department figures confirm the steep decline from a margin of 1.3 per cent in 1964.

Still, Safeway Stores, which now claims to be the nation's largest food seller, recently reported record profits. The Price Commission has ordered four regional food chains to reduce prices to make up for what the commission considered excess profits.

Where supermarkets are concerned, the political and economic crunch on food prices came as they were already locked in what Christensen called "one of the most intense competitive struggles that we've seen in years and years and years."

The struggle was precipitated by the appearance across the nation of regional food chains undercutting the national giants.

Farmers, meanwhile, have been caught up in the same spiraling living costs that affect everyone else.

Farmers spend 5 per cent more to live now than they did a year ago. The money they received increased 13 per cent in the same time. But the latest jump came after a 20-year period in which the prices farmers received increased 6 per cent.

The biggest cost increase in the farm-to-market journey has not been on either end, but in the middle.

Labor costs involved after food leaves the farm jumped 42 per cent over the last decade, until they ate up 29 cents of every dollar spent on food, according to Department of Agriculture figures.

Fueling the price rises have been shoppers with more money to spend. Agriculture Department figures show Americans spend 16 cents of every dollar they earn for food. In 1960 they spent 20 cents.

Another sign of plenty of money to spend is shopper response to price trends. As food prices have steadily risen, so has individual food consumption, at least until this year, when it is expected to show a slight drop.

Demand for beef, for example, remained strong even in the face of soaring prices.

Whatever the reason for food price increases, economists hold out hope for the debate over blame quieting down somewhat.

The 4½ per cent food prices were expected to rise this year, compared to 2½ last year, has already been reached. Now government economists expect the situation to level out for the rest of the year. Initial figures support their expectations.

Judge Accepts Plea of Guilty

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A plea of guilty to a count of robbery by William Merritt was accepted by District Court Judge Howard Babcock Monday.

Merritt, 49, of Independence, Mo., admitted to robbing a small grocery store in June.

A second charge of robbing a slow machine change girl of $465 at another Las Vegas store is expected to be dropped after sentencing by Babcock on Sept. 14 on the first charge, court officials indicated.

Rep. Ichord Says Fonda A Traitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard Ichord says that if actress Jane Fonda's Hanoi broadcasts did not violate existing laws relating to treason or sedition, the Justice Department should seek new laws covering such situations.

The Missouri Democrat, chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, took that position Monday in a letter to Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

"I am sure that you recognize the pernicious nature of Miss Fonda's statements to our servicemen," Ichord wrote, "and the seriousness with which nearly all members of Congress view her conduct."

The letter was written on behalf of the committee following its action last Thursday turning down a member's request that Miss Fonda be subpoenaed to testify about antiwar broadcasts she made during a recent visit to North Vietnam. The committee voted instead to request the Justice Department to report to the panel by Sept. 14 on the progress of the department's inquiry into her activities.

Knebel Pauses Between Books

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "You've got to have a fire in your belly to write a book," novelist Fletcher Knebel says emphatically. "It's just got to be there. Otherwise, why bother to write?"

Knebel, a bearded 60-year-old who has collaborated on three books and written five novels of his own, was explaining the long spell between his latest novel, "Dark Horse," and its predecessor, "Trespass."

"The fire wasn't there," he says with a smile, referring to the two years and three months that spread between the finish of "Trespass" and the start of "Dark Horse."

"It was a good period, though," Knebel says reflectively. "I did a lot of self investigating. "Don't get me wrong. I consider myself normal, but we all need self investigation to learn about ourselves. I don't care if it pays off in writing or not. The main thing is to be able to learn how to live your life to the full. It's the only life you've got. So investigate it."

Knebel says, however, the idea, for "Dark Horse" was growing in him at this time.

"I've felt for a long time that one of the big elements of American society is the automobile," he says. "It's so much a part of us that no amount of radical shifting is going to change it in our lifetime.

"Well, I had that idea, and I didn't quite know what to do with it. Then I got another for a populist candidate for president. I thought it would be great to create a populist candidate who would really lay it on the line."

A blend of these elements resulted in Eddie Quinn, a former truck diver, a motel resident and a state highway official who is picked as a compromise candidate for president when his party's original nominee dies shortly before the election. Eddie is the protagonist of "Dark Horse," and as soon as he gets the presidential nod he almost immediately takes to the nation's highways to spread his unconventional ideas—draft the men who plan wars, eliminate all tax loopholes, an even break for minority groups.

"When I first started I planned a satire," Knebel says. "But as I went along I got to like Quinn better and better. So I went back and rewrote the first six chapters in which I made fun of Quinn. I changed it so that the satire was more on the political process and our line style and not on Eddie."

Knebel, a newsman for 30 years before leaving the field in 1964 to write books fulltime, says the book took him about nine months to write.

"Usually it takes me a year to do a book," he says. "But I had more fun with this one and it went easier. That's probably because political campaigns are a lot of fun—they are intense and people do a lot of screwball things during them.

Ann Landers

Artist Took Her Out of Darkness

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the letter signed "Black Out" I was reminded of my 30 years of married love in a pitch-black bedroom, undressing in the closet, and wondering why my husband had such peculiar ideas about the body. (He made all the rules in our family.)

I was 50 when my husband died. For three years I never looked at a man, although many men looked at me. About eight months ago I decided to say yes to an artist who, I am ashamed to tell you, was 16 years my junior. It was he who suggested a dim light in the hallway, with the door left slightly ajar. When he whispered, "You are a beautiful woman," I felt like a 21-year-old bride — and more womanly than at any time during my life.

I am not so stupid as to think I could build a lasting relationship on fun in the bedroom with a lad almost young enough to be my son, so after a few months we parted. But I must confess, Ann that young artist did more for me than 30 years in the closet.

I'm now seeing a man my own age and we will be married soon, but I will always be grateful to that youth who took me out of the darkness. I'm sure this is the way it was meant to be for all womankind. — Frankly Speaking

Dear Frankly: Better to light one dim bulb in the hallway than to curse the darkness. Thank you for writing.

---

Dear Ann Landers: I was rummaging through some old clippings and found the enclosed, which I think contains some useful advice. If you agree, will you find room for it in your column? It appeared in the Montello, Wisconsin, Tribune, and was distributed to every pupil in Watertown, S.D. Thanks, Ann. — Daily Reader

"Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-agers: 'What can we do? Where can we go?'

"I can make some suggestions. Go home.

"Remove the storm windows. Paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves. Mow the lawn. Learn to cook. Scrub the floors. Build something. Clean up a park. Read to a blind person. Tutor a handicapped child.

"Offer your services to your pastor, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you're through, if you aren't too tired — read a good book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. The world does not owe you a living. Your village does not owe you recreation facilities. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents, so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick or lonely, ever again.

"In plain words: Grow up; quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone. Start acting like a man or a woman.

"I'm a parent. I'm tired of nursing, chauffeuring, protecting, pleading and begging, making excuses for your laziness and trying to accommodate to your endless demands. I am also tired of being told, 'It's your fault I'm like this. You spoiled me.' If you don't like yourself, be something better." — Mrs. Omaha

Dear Mrs. Omaha: I agree — that essay makes sense. I thought so several years ago when it first appeared in my column. P.S. Please say hello to my friends in Watertown. I visited there a few years ago and loved it. Their newspaper is one of the best.

Contest Committee Receives Request

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Republican Contest Committee has been asked to order selection of a new Missouri delegation to the party's national convention on grounds of poor racial representation.

The National Council of Afro-American Republicans said Monday there's only one black in the 32-member delegation to next week's convention in Miami, Fla. Missouri has a black population of about 11 per cent, said Dr. Percy Gray of St. Louis, a vice president of the council.

Gray said a challenge was filed with GOP Contest Committee chairman Edwin Middleton of Louisville, Ky.

The Missouri delegation has been called a representative only by its leader Lawrence K. Roos, the St. Louis County supervisor. Roos said the delegation was chosen by "rules and procedures" of the convention.

One Person Killed

Police and firemen try to right an automobile after it plunged 40 feet down the 14th Street ramp of the Daniel Boone Expressway in downtown St. Louis Monday, killing one person and injuring another. Mrs. Winifred Brown, 44, was killed and her daughter, Edith Dunlap, 23, suffered minor injuries. Authorities said the brakes on the car apparently failed. (UPI)

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Weight Training Helpful

Dear Dr. Lamb — I need some information about weight lifting. My husband has been on a 1,200-to-1,400-calorie a day diet and has been lifting weights pretty steadily now for about a year and a half. We can't find the information he needs. He wants to know how often he should lift weights. If one lifts weights daily will he become musclebound, or how often is it necessary to lift weights if you're just interested in a healthy body? How does the body benefit from weight lifting? Is it good only for muscle tone? Does weight lifting turn fat into muscle as claimed? How does weight lifting compare with other exercises in regard to energy expended and calories used?

Dear Reader — Sensible weight lifting is a good way to train muscles. Because of an emotional bias against weight lifting many people now call it "weight training." It means the same thing. One way to develop muscle strength and endurance is to exercise under loads. The load need not be the maximum capacity for the muscle either. For training purposes, particularly if one is interested in using up calories, it can be done every day.

You can forget about the problem of being musclebound. There's no real proof that this occurs. Weight lifters who have had limitation in their freedom of movement, really have been fat weight lifters. If it's all muscle and not fat a person won't be musclebound. You can develop a good healthy body, though, using relatively light weights to build strength and endurance without having to use real heavy weights and develop large bulging muscles. Even an athlete who will require muscular endurance can get some benefit out of "weight training."

Any form of exercise that uses energy will burn up fat. If the exercise also works the muscle so the muscles then enlarge, it's quite proper to say that it converts fat to muscle. Weight training is certainly in this category. The energy used in weight training depends on the weight lifted, the distance it is lifted and how many lifts are done. For an illustration, if a person shovels wet snow with the snow and shovel weighing 22½ pounds, lifting 10 shovels per minute and making two steps to throw the snow, he will use 15 times as much oxygen as he would if he were resting quietly in bed. This will use more oxygen a minute than some individual's lungs and circulation will be able to provide. This, incidentally, is why shoveling wet snow can overload the heart and circulation in individuals who are not in good physical condition.

The benefits from weight training last for some time after lifting is discontinued. Maintaining lifting one day a week is frequent enough to maintain the level of training. In one study of trained individuals more than half of them retained all of their strength as long as 40 weeks after the training had stopped. Now one word of caution, strong severe muscular contractions will cause a significant rise in blood pressure.

Endurance exercises, such as jogging or running, are probably better for strengthening the heart muscle. Nevertheless, there is a place for both, if done properly.

GRANTMASTER TIRE GUARANTEE

1. Tread Life Guarantee Against Road Hadards
We guarantee all Grantmaster tires against failures from all normal road hazards for the life of the tread with the exception of: ordinary nail punctures, fire, theft, front-end mis-alignment, under-inflation, over-inflation and running flat.

2. Tread Life Guarantee Against Defects
We guarantee the Grantmaster tires, against all defects of material and workmanship, for the life of the tread.

Basis of Adjustment: Should your Grantmaster tire require adjustment under Section 1 or 2 of the Guarantee, please return it to Grants and we will replace it by giving you proportionate allowance for the unused tread, based on the current selling price, including Federal Excise Tax.

3. Guaranteed Against Tread Wear
The original tread is guaranteed not to wear out for the number of months designated. If tread wears out during this period, the tire should be returned to Grants and we will replace it, charging the current regular price plus Federal Excise Tax less the following percentage allowance toward the purchase of a new tire.

| Tire Guarantee | Allowance |
|---|---|
| 18-27 Months | 10% |
| 28-40 Months | 25% |

This guarantee covers tires in passenger car service only. Passenger car tires used in commercial service reduce the guarantee period by 50%.
